Housing For Elderly, Handicapped Children Programs For Luncheon

By MARION SINES
Herald Staff Writer

Tom Willett of the Ohio Regional Planning Committee on Housing was guest speaker for the Tuesday luncheon meeting of Pickaway County Social Services in the Parish Hall of St. Philip's Episcopal Church.

He said that before any plans are made for housing the elderly, a study should be made including performance of the people as to what kind of homes they prefer to live in. A location where they are near their old neighborhood and friends, activity centers, grocery store, medical center, garden space, if requested, and several other conveniences such as transportation and scenery.

Some people prefer the high-rise apartments while others want one floor plan homes where they can have some flowers and possibly a small vegetable patch. He said that in a town such as Circleville the latter would be preferable.

Willett said that most older people wish to remain in their homes but many are too large and the residents have neither the strength or money for maintenance. Others, while smaller, are mostly in neighborhoods which are fastly deteriorating and the value of the property is diminishing to almost nothing. Money is available for constructing suitable quarters and should be requested upon completion of evaluating the needs in the community.

Don Metzler of Circleville Schools, Opal Sims of Logan Elm and Orlan Cooper from Teays Valley, distributed literature listing special needs status definitions for children.

The project they are involved with is a state-wide census of children with special needs that are not receiving special services. They asked for information of any child not in school who may need assistance as most who are in school are easily identified.

A special needs are for those who have hearing impairment or are deaf, physically handicapped, visually impaired or blind, multi-handicapped, learning disabilities or behavior disorders, educable mentally retarded, speech and or language impairment, autistic behavior, and hospitalized and/or homebound children who may need special assistance.

Carol Higgins is serving in the liaison capacity in receiving information of handicapped children.

Thunderstorms, High Winds Lash Ohio

Storm Damage Heavy

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Ohio was turned topsy-turvy by weather that spun motorists on ice Tuesday morning, poured rain in the afternoon, then caused hundreds of thousands of dollars in wind damage.

Damage in Pickaway County and Circleville was confined mainly to trees and power lines, although several buildings were toppled by the high winds.

It is estimated that wind gusts to 65 miles an hour caused between $3,000 and $5,000 damage to a single-story home owned by Peggy Devine, Hedgesview Rd., Hedges Addition, Ashville.

The gusts apparently ripped the roof from the dwelling. The living room and bedroom of the home sustained water damage.

High winds toppled and destroyed an 8-foot by 10-foot steel storage building owned by Gerald Garrett, 281 Meadow Lane. The building is estimated at $200.

A tree fell across Island Rd. at the Red Bridge-East Ringgold Rd. intersection, Pickaway County Sheriff's Deputies said, and across the Kingston Pike at the Scippo Creek bridge.

A power line was blown against a tree limb at the south entrance to Gold Cliff Park, causing a minor fire to the tree. Telephone lines fell in the alley between King's Department Store and Lindsey's Bakery.

Thirty-seven head of cattle owned by Roger Kline, Dungan Rd., escaped from the barn when the door was thrown off and damaged by the wind gusts.

Cincinnati Building Director Marty Walsh estimated damage in the city at about $400,000.

The weather was triggered by a low pressure area that moved through southwestern and central Ohio, packing winds of 71 miles per hour, uprooting trees, blowing off roofs and chimneys and smashing store windows.

The wind blew out five windows in one Cincinnati downtown store, temporarily knocked out power sub-stations and blew a building overhang down onto four parked cars.

There were no reports of deaths, but Mrs. Ruth Osborne was hospitalized after a tree fell on her pickup truck at Oxford as she was driving through the storm.

Much of the state was under a severe weather warning during the evening. Hamilton County Civil Defense Director Liore Maccaroni said his department was flooded with calls.

He said people have been sensitive about weather alerts since tornadoes swept southwestern Ohio in 1974.

Freezing rain paralyzed rush hour traffic in southern Ohio early Tuesday morning. Police reported 20 cars piled up in one crash alone in Cincinnati.

Evening rush hour traffic was harassed by the high winds and rain.

Southbound motorists on Interstate 75 across the Ohio River from Cincinnati began hydroplaning on water rushing down the hills of Covington, Ky. Police had to stop traffic to clear four cars that had slammed into a retaining wall.

Newport, Ky., police reported the 740 Marina opposite the Cincinnati Coliseum on the Ohio River sank during the storm. Damage was estimated at $100,000.

Northern Kentucky State College reported $50,000 damage to its library at the Chase Law School after a roof was torn off the building.

The Aeroweld Machining Corp. in Forest Park, Ohio, just north of Cincinnati reported damage in six figures after an electrical transformer was blown from a utility pole through the plant wall.

Both air and automobile traffic were temporarily halted at Greater Cincinnati Airport until winds subsided. The airport said a 35-foot tree, still decorated for Christmas, fell across its main entrance and a large sign blew off the airport hotel.

The storm continued westward across the state, damaging mobile homes and boats at Lake Cowan near Wilmington.

Lightning accompanied the storm some places in the state.

Labor Secretary Resigns

WASHINGTON (AP) — John T. Dunlop has resigned as secretary of labor, it was announced today. He quit despite a last-minute plea from President Ford to stay on the job.

The announcement at the Labor Department came one day after Dunlop informed the President of his decision at a private White House meeting.

Dunlop maintains that his position with organized labor was unworkable in the aftermath of Ford's veto of the controversial common-site picketing bill.

During the 35-minute White House session requested by Dunlop, the President tried unsuccessfully to talk him out of quitting, according to informed sources. However, Dunlop agreed to remain in the Cabinet until January 31, when he is expected to return to his teaching post at Harvard University.

The most frequently mentioned choice to succeed him is W.J. Usery Jr., director of the Federal Mediation and Conciliation Service, who is highly regarded by both labor and management.

Dunlop's resignation came as no surprise. He had been reassessing his position since Ford announced Dec. 22 that he would veto the bill that would have broadened picketing rights at construction sites. The bill has been sought by organized labor since the Truman administration.

White House officials had described Ford as anxious to avoid any further shakeups in his administration. On Nov. 2, he fired Defense Secretary James R. Schlesinger and Central Intelligence Director William E. Colby while stripping Secretary of State Henry A. Kissinger of his post of director of the National Security Council.

Ford was warned before the veto that it could cost him the services of Dunlop, who has specialized in trying to improve labor-management practices in the construction industry.

Dunlop, who had sponsored the bill, expected Ford to sign it based on earlier statements by the President that he favored the principle of the legislation.

The bill would have allowed unions to picket an entire construction site even though its dispute was with only one subcontractor. It also included a provision — strongly backed by Dunlop as a way of moderating the size of wage settlements — to coordinate the now-fragmented collective bargaining process in the construction industry.

But the picketing provision was strongly opposed by conservatives.

Ohio House OKs Indian Sites Protection

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Custodians of a "rich heritage," Ohio House members have approved legislation offering some protection to the state's storehouse of prehistoric Indian mounds and other burial sites.

The bill was sent to the Senate on Tuesday for further consideration, along with a measure that would eliminate most current exemptions for jury duty in the state court system.

In other areas, a joint session of the Senate and House finance committees met today to begin a review of the state's two-year budget bill in hope of solving some current cash problems.

At the same time, the House Ways and Means Committee began hearings on a property tax reform measure that would establish new appeal procedures from tax assessments and generally have the effect of freezing unvoted increases in real estate taxes. The vote on the Indian mound preservation bill was 91-1.

"Ohio has the largest evidence of prehistoric moundbuilding cultures in the United States," said Rep. Arthur V. Brooks, D-14 Cleveland Heights, who sponsored the bill with Rep. John M. Scott, R-63 Fairborn.

"We've turned out to be the custodians of this rich heritage," Brooks told his colleagues, who approved the bill 91-1.

The custodial care envisioned by the legislation would set up a State Registry of Archaeological Landmarks to preserve areas judged to be of significant value by the Ohio Historical Society.

Privately-owned land would be put on the registry only by consent of owners, while worthwhile public land would be automatically designated.

The historical society would be authorized to offer a real estate tax exemption to Ohioans willing to "dedicate" significant land as an archaeological preserve, restricted from any other use.

Any disturbance of registered or dedicated sites, without proper notification of the historical society, would be punishable by up to three months in jail and a $750 fine.

Sale or possession of artifacts or skeletal remains from such sites would also be a criminal violation, unless permission was granted by the owner.

The bill expands the 15-member Ohio Historic Preservation Advisory Board to 17 members to allow for the inclusion of an American Indian and an archaeologist.

But it does little to prevent leveling of privately-owned sites by the bulldozers of developers, who archaeologists blame for much of the destruction. As many as 5,000 mounds (Continued on Page 20)

SAFETY FIRST — Ed Bohenko, left, discusses some safety rules with Ed Farynowski. Bohenko is chairman of the Circleville Area Chamber of Commerce's Safety Committee and Farynowski has been appointed to serve as chairman of the newly formed Safety Council of the Chamber. The purpose of the safety council is to help prevent accidents and to promote safety in the area. The council was formed in November as recommended by the Industrial Commission of Ohio in an attempt to create a council in each of the 88 counties. Farynowski said that anyone interested in safety may attend the council's meetings. Presently, the group is taking applications from all industries and small businesses in the area for a safety campaign and contest. Interested individuals are asked to contact either Bohenko or Farynowski.

Lancaster Judge Named To Bench

Joseph Ralston, judge of the Lancaster Municipal Court, was seated by assignment of the Ohio Supreme Court as Circleville Municipal Court Judge late Tuesday.

His assignment, as only the second Municipal Court judge in the 22-year history of the local court, followed the death of Sterling Lamb Tuesday morning.

Judge Ralston, who will remain as judge of both courts, will serve until Ohio Gov. James Rhodes appoints a judge to fill the vacancy.

The governor's office and supreme court were contacted by County Prosecutor Richard Gerhardt, who is also president of the local Bar Association.

Court Clerk Carolyn Royster, bailiff Francis McGinnis, and deputy clerks Jeri Robins, Carol Bowman, Mary Jo Smith, members of the Circleville Police Department, and Pickaway County Sheriff's Deputies, had their positions terminated with the death of Judge Lamb.

They were all given interim appointments by Judge Ralston Wednesday morning.

O. Charles Hosterman was acting judge of the court for several months. Because of Judge Ralston's double duties, the local court will not meet on a regular basis at this time.

Court will be observed tomorrow and Tuesday afternoon at which time a regular schedule will be established.

MRS. JESSICA M. WOOD

Cornelius Staton, Dayton; Carl Staton, Holiday, Fla.; four grandchildren.

The funeral service will be held 2 p.m. Friday at Community United Methodist Church with the Rev. David Frazer officiating. Burial will be in Forest Cemetery.

Friends will be received at Mader Funeral Home 2-9 p.m. Thursday and until 1 p.m. Friday when the casket will be taken to the church.

Tornado Drill Bill Passes

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — The Ohio Senate has unanimously approved legislation requiring tornado drills in public and private primary and secondary schools.

State Senators returned the bill Tuesday to the House for concurrence on minor amendments. The measure was prompted by the tornado which ripped through Xenia in April, 1974, causing widespread death and destruction.

The Senate also sent three bills to the desk of Gov. James A. Rhodes:

—A bill updating a state law, effective today, which banned discrimination in credit dealings because of gender or marital status; the corrective bill brings Ohio law into conformity with federal statutes;

—A bill requiring new competitive bidding procedures by colleges and universities in securing printing contracts; aimed at benefiting Ohio printers;

—A bill empowering township trustees to buy group life insurance for full-time township employees.

Cyclamate Report Seen Inconclusive

WASHINGTON (AP) — The best brains in science cannot answer the question of whether the artificial sweetener cyclamate is totally free of cancer risk, says a blue-ribbon panel that spent six months studying the problem for the government.

The committee concluded Tuesday that it could say only with 95 per cent probability that cyclamate, 30 to 50 times sweeter than sugar, does not cause cancer. The panel said there remains a nagging doubt over whether it may be a weak carcinogen.

The small degree of uncertainty seems certain to touch off a debate over what degree of safety should be required by government regulators.

The scientific panel said that not even a proposed five-year experiment costing $8 million-$10 million and using 52,000 rats and hamsters could establish, with absolute certainty, that the government was wrong in 1969 when it banned the chemical from foods and drugs.

"Science today is just not good enough to answer this question to everyone's satisfaction," said the chairman, Dr. Arnold L. Brown of Mayo Medical School.

The panel's final report, to be submitted within a few weeks to the National Cancer Institute director for relay to the Food and Drug Administration, cautiously concludes that "present evidence does not establish the carcinogenicity of cyclamate or its metabolites in experimental animals."

The six scientists from universities expressed concern, however, that because some cyclamate-fed animals developed cancerous bladder tumors, this might indicate the sweetener is a weak carcinogen.

Noting the relatively limited sensitivity of current scientific methods, the committee concluded, "Although no chemical can be proven unequivocally to lack carcinogenicity with these techniques, ones with a significant carcinogenic hazard for humans could escape detection."

The careful wording of the report raised the question of how it would be received at the FDA. Commissioner Alexander M. Schmidt of the FDA has said he would "really not be too happy about putting it (cyclamate) back on the market" if there was even the slightest chance it could cause cancer in any human.

"I'm looking for a clean bill of health, not a wishy-washy iffy answer on cyclamates," he said last month.

But Abbott Laboratories, which asked the FDA two years ago for permission to resume marketing cyclamate, argued that science's inability to show 100 per cent certainty should not be the basis for keeping it off the market.

The Calorie Control Council, representing diet soft-drink manufacturers who want to resume using cyclamate, also heralded the committee's conclusions as a victory for industry.

Anti-Horse Thief Society Not Too Active Anymore

BENTONVILLE, Ohio (AP)— The 123-year-old Anti-Horse Thief Society of Adams County ain't what it used to be.

"They rode the counties looking for horse thieves," recalls Sherman Beam, who has been a member of the group for about 45 years. "When they couldn't do that anymore, they donated and bought things, just like they bought the first set of electric lights for Bentonville."

"But now, we don't do much of anything except get together at the banquets to eat."

The banquets however draw quite a crowd. As many as 200 persons usually attend the group's annual gathering, while the coffers have swollen to $1,040 in the Adams County Savings and Loan.

Officers Face 2 Counts

CINCINNATI (AP) — Suspended Cincinnati Police Chief Carl Goodin and two other officers, previously indicted, have been named in two additional counts each by a special Hamilton County grand jury.

The new charges involve a second police-informant account and named former Vice Squad Lt. Richard Beyer and vice squad officer James Simon.

The others were named by the grand jury Dec. 18, 1975 on other counts of alleged wrongdoing.

The first count accused the three of giving false account sheets for a special informant. The second said the three did so "to corrupt the outcome of the grand jury investigation."

It was the second grand jury report marked "Partial." The jury will continue investigations, court officials said.

The grand jury said all three made false statements to the grand jury Dec. 17, 1975, about disbursement of the funds.

Cyclamate Report Seen Inconclusive

WASHINGTON (AP) — The best brains in science cannot answer the question of whether the artificial sweetener cyclamate is totally free of cancer risk, says a blue-ribbon panel that spent six months studying the problem for the government.

The committee concluded Tuesday that it could say only with 95 per cent probability that cyclamate, 30 to 50 times sweeter than sugar, does not cause cancer. The panel said there remains a nagging doubt over whether it may be a weak carcinogen.

The small degree of uncertainty seems certain to touch off a debate over what degree of safety should be required by government regulators.

The scientific panel said that not even a proposed five-year experiment costing $8 million-$10 million and using 52,000 rats and hamsters could establish, with absolute certainty, that the government was wrong in 1969 when it banned the chemical from foods and drugs.

"Science today is just not good enough to answer this question to everyone's satisfaction," said the chairman, Dr. Arnold L. Brown of Mayo Medical School.

The panel's final report, to be submitted within a few weeks to the National Cancer Institute director for relay to the Food and Drug Administration, cautiously concludes that "present evidence does not establish the carcinogenicity of cyclamate or its metabolites in experimental animals."

The six scientists from universities expressed concern, however, that because some cyclamate-fed animals developed cancerous bladder tumors, this might indicate the sweetener is a weak carcinogen.

Noting the relatively limited sensitivity of current scientific methods, the committee concluded, "Although no chemical can be proven unequivocally to lack carcinogenicity with these techniques, ones with a significant carcinogenic hazard for humans could escape detection."

The careful wording of the report raised the question of how it would be received at the FDA. Commissioner Alexander M. Schmidt of the FDA said he would "really not be too happy about putting it (cyclamate) back on the market" if there was even the slightest chance it could cause cancer in any human.

"I'm looking for a clean bill of health, not a wishy-washy iffy answer on cyclamates," he said last month.

But Abbott Laboratories, which asked the FDA two years ago for permission to resume marketing cyclamate, argued that science's inability to show 100 per cent certainty should not be the basis for keeping it off the market.

The Calorie Control Council, representing diet soft-drink manufacturers who want to resume using cyclamate, also heralded the committee's conclusions as a victory for industry.

Congress To Cut Off Angolan Aide

WASHINGTON (AP) — Congress appears likely to reject a new appeal from President Ford and to vote to cut off U.S. aid to Angola this month, House sources predict.

A House source said Tuesday no head count has been taken but that the House appears to have the votes to approve a Senate-passed measure cutting off Angola aid. A State Department official also conceded the administration faces an "uphill battle" to win House approval for continued aid to Angola.

Rep. Don Bonker, D-Wash., who signed up nearly 140 House votes against Angola aid in three hours just before Congress left town last month, says he is confident he can get the 220 votes needed to guarantee a House cutoff of the aid.

Bonker also is trying to block the Ford administration's favorite "backchannel" of providing U.S. aid to Angola through Zaire.

White House Press Secretary Ron Nessen said Tuesday that President Ford will ask Congress next week to permit continued U.S. aid to anti-Soviet forces in Angola. Ford presumably will make the request in his State of the Union message to Congress on Monday night.

The Senate tacked the Angolan aid cutoff onto a $112.3-billion defense appropriation bill last month by a vote of 54 to 22.

House Appropriation Committee Chairman George H. Mahon, D-Tex., said he and House leaders have not scheduled a House vote on the bill, but other sources said the vote could come as early as next week.

It was the second grand jury report marked "Partial." The jury will continue investigations, court officials said.

The grand jury said all three made false statements to the grand jury Dec. 17, 1975, about disbursement of the funds.

"We don't do much anymore," says Beam. "Most of the members are farmers, and the majority of them have passed away."

"We were in the notion of disbanding once, but we gave up on the idea when a woman who loved horses came to our meeting and told us to stay together."

Beam, a local farmer, now reports that his fellow club members worry more about tractor and farm equipment thefts than they do horse thefts. That's because most of the local farmers don't keep horses anymore.

When the group was formed in 1853, there was a real need to protect the horses on the Ohio River area farmers.

"In those days, stealing a person's horse meant something pretty serious," Beam says. "When they caught you, they either gave you a necktie party, a long prison sentence or a stiff fine."

"But to be honest, I think we only had three horses stolen in the history of the society."

At that time, horse thief catchers in rural Adams and Brown Counties were known as the Riders and their fame soon spread throughout the West.

"It's called the Anti-Horse Society of Adams County," Beam says, "but actually it didn't cover all the county at that time. If it had, we would have captured Morgan's Raiders when they invaded Ohio from the south during the Civil War."

'Human' Superheroes Spark Comics Boom

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Antman is fuming. Not far away, Loki, God of Evil, is about to destroy an entire city and still he waits in his rocket car for the Wasp, his girlfriend.

"I don't know why you have to powder your nose every time we have a mission," Antman snaps as they finally speed away to defeat Loki.

In case you haven't guessed, Antman, Loki and the Wasp are comic book characters, part of a stable belonging to Marvel Comics, the world's largest seller of comic books.

Comic books are big business. More than 200 million are sold in the United States each year at prices ranging from 25 cents for a single issue to $1.50 for multi-story editions. Comic book conventions attract thousands of collectors each year, and first editions of some comics sell for thousands of dollars.

Marvel publisher Stan Lee, whose Spiderman character has overtaken Superman as the biggest selling superhero, says the human qualities of his protagonists endear them to readers. Lee, who started in comics in 1939, cites Spiderman as an example:

"People can relate to him because he's so human. He means well but things go wrong. He's fighting a villain and his costume tears. He once was on the Ed Sullivan show and made a thousand dollars performing, but he realized he couldn't cash the check because he didn't have an account in the name of Spiderman and couldn't reveal his true identity."

Lee has written two books chronicling the increasing popularity of comic books, "Origins of Marvel Comics" and, of course, "Son of Origins of Marvel Comics." In them he explains such things as how he came up with the name "Thor, God of Thunder."

"It was short, easy to remember, and if you lisped nobody would know," Lee quipped in an interview.

Lee said the comic book craze began in 1961, when he was turning out such classics as "Xorn, the Creature Who Swallowed the Earth" and "Thomgorr, the Anti-Social Alien." Lee created a squad of superheroes called "The Fantastic Four" and sales skyrocketed.

"The Fantastic Four heralded a new style of costumed superheroes — heroes plagued with the problems that torment us all: money worries, romantic hangups, feelings of inadequacy, jealousy, vanity and fear," said Lee.

Charge Boy In Slayings

AKRON, Ohio (AP) — Summit County sheriff's deputies charged a suburban 13-year-old Tuesday in connection with what had been thought to be a double suicide that included his mother.

Officers said Mark Ball, 13, of nearby Franklin township, was being held in Summit County Juvenile Detention Home to face two charges of delinquency by reason of aggravated murder.

The charges were filed as a result of the July 17, 1975, shooting deaths of his mother Sandra and a man, Jay Gaines, whose bodies were found in the Ball home, Sheriff's Detective Jerry Sharrock said.

The Summit County coroner ruled at the time that the deaths were suicide but noted that tests appeared to show neither had fired a gun. Sharrock said federal authorities assisted in tests that led to Tuesday's arrest and charges.

Moundbuilders View Indian History Slides

Indian history and archaeology was the subject of a program presented by Jerry Anderson at the Kiwanis Moundbuilders meeting Tuesday morning.

Anderson, a chemical engineer at the DuPont plant, presented a slide show depicting Indian earthworks in Ohio.

President John Johnson announced that Mike Carey and George Huskey would join him as representatives of the club against the evening Kiwanis Club in a chess tournament.

Visiting Kiwanians were from the German Village and Circleville clubs. Neal Hamilton was a guest.

Today, Marvel sells more than 75 million comics annually, with the antics of Spiderman, The Fantastic Four and Thor reprinted in 30 languages. Next is D.C. comics, with sales of about 45 million, much of it from Superman, and Archie Comics, purveyors of Archie, Jughead and other perennial adolescents.

Marvel licenses the use of their copyrighted characters to firms making T-shirts, toys, games, puzzles, soap and vitamins. The company, a division of New Jersey conglomerate Cadence Industries, is also producing a full-length movie on Spiderman.

Marvel has a permanent staff of about 40 people in its New York office, but uses scores of freelancers to turn out its 80 different characters. A single comic book takes about a month to complete, Lee said. An Illinois printing company produces virtually all of the comic industry's output.

Despite Marvel's success, Lee complains that people don't take comic books as seriously as they should.

"A comic can be a great artistic creation," he said. "The comic book is one of the great, unexplored mediums in the world."

Lee claims comics can help problem readers because the artwork keeps them interested and aids them in understanding the text.

The 52-year-old publisher also dismisses complaints about violence in comic books.

"Violence is a subjective thing," he said. "Who would want to read about a terrible old lady who takes children and burns them in an oven? But that's the plot of Hansel and Gretel. We turn away from violence in our books."

In fact, Marvel is coming out with its own line of comic book classics, with "20,000 Leagues Under the Sea" and "The Hunchback of Notre Dame" among the first titles.

Thirty-seven years in the comic book business has left Lee with a few personal preferences regarding his creations.

"One of my many pet peeves has always been the young, teen-aged sidekick of the average superhero," he said. "If yours truly was a superhero, there's no way I'd pal around with some freckle-faced teenager. At the very least, people would begin to talk."

Fight Extradition To Putnam County

YORKVILLE, Ill. (AP) — Two Ohio men who allegedly escaped the Putnam County, Ohio jail last weekend are fighting extradition from here. Officials in Ohio say it could be a month before they return the pair to the jail.

Authorities say Robert Landwehr, 18, of Fort Jennings and Herman Hardy, 36, of Napoleon were captured here after 24 hours of freedom.

They escaped after overpowering a deputy in the Putnam County jail.

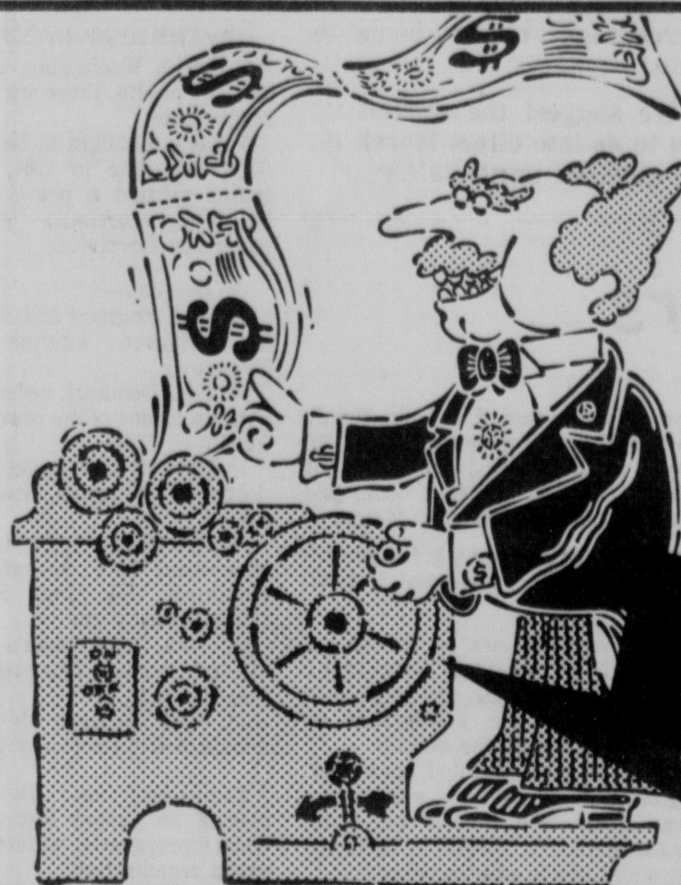

They were jailed on charges of attempted murder, two counts of auto theft and one charge of kidnapping.

Overstepping The Bounds

The Law Enforcement Assistance Administration appears to have overstepped its bounds with a regulation prohibiting businesses from screening criminal records of prospective employees.

Frankly, we are astonished that anyone could even propose that business should hire persons without a background check, and agree with the Cincinnati business community in saying it would open the henhouse to the foxes.

Such a regulation is, on the face of it, an unwarranted intrusion into business affairs and should not be allowed to stand.

Even now, some experts in security claim that up to 60 per cent of employees would be dishonest, given the opportunity, which is in itself a shocking statistic.

With an influx of persons of unknown character into financial institutions, department stores, etc. the percentage would be bound to rise.

We suggest the regulation, set to go into effect March 16, be quashed immediately.

Best Of Partners

By JIM BISHOP

The New Year, for me, was a time of meditation. I drew no joy from blowing a tin horn or gulping booze or tying up long-distance phone lines. I needed an hour alone.

What I dwelled on were the deeds of my life - good and bad. I am not maudlin by nature - a cynical sentimentalist would be closer to the truth. Looking back over the rocks and hot sands of the past, the chilling freezing mountains of events, my brain fills with words like "could have," "would have," "should have."

Success is not measured in personal triumphs; it shines when a man can minimize disasters. When I go, they may chisel "Author-Editor-Columnist" on a headstone, but it will not tell the story. I am, first of all - and last - a family man.

My greatest joys, my deepest sorrows occur within the family. The deaths of my mother, my wife and my mother-in-law within 80 days in 1957 tore my soul from its roots.

Going broke when I decided to quit book publishing and become a freelance writer shook my confidence in myself. I owed three loan companies and every merchant on Cedar Lane in Teaneck, N. J. Slowly, painfully, I continued to write "The Day Lincoln Was Shot" beside a cellar oil burner because there was no other road open.

I should feel a sense of triumph for having written 19 books. Eight were bestsellers. I look at them, sitting in silence on a piano, and I think: "Give me one more shot at any of them and I'll show you how it should be written."

No, the best move I made was to marry Kelly. Nothing matches that event. Nothing in my life is as enduring. Nothing is as musical.

The difference between a bad marriage and a great one is, roughly, the difference between hell and heaven. Nor will I accord her all the bows for making this a notable union - we worked at it.

I don't know how much we have in the bank. Nor do I ask. That's her department. I earn the money; she saves and - or spends it. She permits me to read so-called fan mail - after she reads it. She does not consult me about what to have for dinner. She cooks it.

Kelly has a natural blonde beauty. But that isn't what drew me toward marriage. She has a questing intelligence and a lot of character. Friendship and religion and loyalty are important to her. She believes.

She shops. I golf. She sews. I work. She buys her own Christmas presents, but I must wrap them and write the card. I forget to send flowers. I forget to say "I love you." She forgives me. She edged into my work uninvited. Kelly studied journalism. By the time we got to the White House to do books on Kennedy and Johnson, she was taking notes on draperies, rugs, bric-a-brac on the president's desk as I was jotting what the man had to say.

We read the same books - me first. When the last of our girls left for college, we began to play backgammon. We also play gin. If I win, I'm a crook. If she wins, it's a blow for "Lib."

She has never been a doormat. And yet, she never dominates me. She comes on insidiously, like perfume on a moonlit night. I find myself saying, "Okay, let's do it your way, but I think you're wrong." This inflates what is left of my machismo.

Perhaps the proper word is that hackneyed one, "partnership." This is what we have going. When we were married, I resolved never to go anywhere without her. As a syndicated columnist, I receive invitations to go here, there, everywhere to cover a story.

Unless the invitation is for two, I will not go. This trims such invitations to a

Business World

By JOHN CUNIFF
AP Business Analyst

NEW YORK (AP) — This is the age of the study committee. In business, government and academic life the phrase is similar: "The matter was referred to the committee for further study."

If after due study the committee fails to reach a conclusion, it might hand off the problem to a sub-committee, from whence it might then be passed on for further "action" by a foundation or institute, where study is permanent.

Name the subject and it is being studied, but name the subject and the chances are you won't find the answers. Studies raise questions, like beating a rug raises dust, sometimes beclouding rather than clarifying.

And so, in the spirit of not expecting much, a few unanswered questions are hereby cast into this murky oblivion, offered as subjects that might be studied somewhere, sometime, without the least expectation of resolution.

—Is a gentlemen's club a social rather than a business establishment? There is an intriguing tax angle to this. In some parts of exclusive city "social" clubs, in a taproom perhaps, you are forbidden from writing or shuffling papers on the surface of the table. Such conduct suggests business rather than socializing.

The rules are enforced too, and people so rude as to require reminding are watched carefully and might find themselves asked to leave if they persist in such crude behavior. The line has to be drawn somewhere.

Oddly, almost everyone at one such club on a certain day were gathered for the specific purpose of talking business. Their memberships, in fact, were obtained through business associations. Their firms paid the dues.

When they were through, their checks were offered to the Internal Revenue Service as business lunch tax deductions, and the waiters who enforced the "no business" rule gladly provided receipts for that purpose.

The questions for the study committee are many, of course, but an especially intriguing one is whether this cultural schizophrenia should be recognized by the IRS.

—Who is the mysterious "they," perhaps the most widely quoted alleged authority on everything and anything but who nevertheless remains unknown? A saboteur, perhaps? "They" always seems to have bad news.

One effort to find the elusive "they" led only to more "theys," suggesting the need for a multiple attack, such as can be launched by a committee, rather than a solo effort.

Referring to the economy, a casual informant commented, "They say we're headed for more bad times and..." The informant was interrupted by a question: "Who says we're headed for bad times?" The answer: "Oh, they all say we are."

Who is "they?" He or she must be found.

—Do high interest rates help cause inflation or do they help arrest inflation?

You think you know the answer, but can you prove it? High rates add to the cost of doing business, don't they? And we know that business passes on increased costs to the consumer, right?

Okay, but high interest rates discourage borrowing, agreed? And when borrowing is discouraged there is less inflationary pressure, no? Isn't it true then that high rates arrest existing inflation?

While this really is a very important matter, one that is at the very foundation of the nation's fight for economic stability, can we ever hope for a clearcut, clean answer?

Probably not, and so it makes an ideal question to put to a study committee.

City Borrowing Hit By Civic Leader

CHICAGO (AP) Far too many U.S. cities are being financed by massive borrowing, warns a Kansas City civic leader.

"We must stop financing our cities on a credit card," Dr. Charles N. Kimball, chairman of the Midwest Research Institute in Kansas City, told businessmen at the Executives Club of Chicago.

Dr. Kimball urged city government officials to recognize the dangers of deficit spending and borrowing in the current fiscal crisis in New York City. "It's time we stopped wearing a well-beaten path to the short-term money market and begin to live within our municipal means," he said.

The Harvard-educated scientist said there was an end to how much health and welfare services and employee benefits U.S. cities could afford without facing the consequences of heavy borrowing or higher taxes. He cited Kansas City's $5.3-billion revitalization program — with only $96 million in municipal debt — as an example of what cities can do if they are to remain financially sound.

In 1805, by a treaty with the Indians at Fort Industry—site of Toledo, Ohio—the United States acquired, for the use of the grantees of Connecticut, all that part of the Western Reserve which lies west of the Cuyahoga.

Speaking Of Your Health

by Lester L. Coleman, M.D.

Mr. J. J., Neb.

Dear Mr. J.:

Steam can be of great benefit and can be soothing to the mucous membrane lining of the nose, the larynx and the bronchial tubes.

Despite the benefits to the respiratory tract, excessively hot steam can be injurious and should certainly be avoided. Fortunately, there is good control in the sauna bath.

Steam rooms, however, may have different levels for a higher concentration of steam.

It is unsafe for one member of a club to compete with another member in attaining the highest level of steam concentration for the longest period of time.

Moderation here, as elsewhere, is the essence of good health.

Can a doctor tell if I am a smoker by looking at my throat?

Miss S. K., La.

Dear Miss K.:

There is no positive identification of a "smoker's throat" by just looking at it. Yet, long exposure to tobacco can cause a chronic pharyngitis. The delicate mucous membrane lining may become thickened and beefy red in appearance.

As you must know, there are many more important reasons for giving up smoking.

Manager Of Nudist Colony Lashes Immodest Clothing

Delay Sale Of Building Bonds In State

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — A long list of construction projects on Ohio's higher education campuses may be halted and others not started on time as a result of a decision Tuesday by the Ohio Public Facilities Commission.

Acting at the request of Gov. James A. Rhodes, the commission decided to delay the Jan. 20 sale of $60 million worth of higher education capital improvements bonds. A decision as to when they will be sold was left to a future meeting at a date to be announced.

Rhodes said the delay was necessary to permit the legislature time to appropriate $12 million to get the new State Office Tower out of its current financial difficulties.

If the money isn't made available, Rhodes said, Ohio's credit rating on the bond market would be jeopardized, and at the least, future bond sales would be subject to "a very high interest rate."

The Public Facilities Commission, comprised of three Republicans and three Democrats, agreed with the governor by a vote of 5-1, with Richard Borror, representing State Auditor Thomas E. Ferguson, dissenting.

In opposing the delay, Borror contended that action in itself would reflect upon Ohio's credit and have the effect of boosting interest rates anyway.

His contention was discounted by the other members who include Thomas Moyer, representing the governor; State Treasurer Gertrude W. Donahey, Secretary of State Ted W. Brown, Budget Director Howard Collier, and P. Michael DeAngelo, representing Atty. Gen. William J. Brown.

The commission, while leaving the date for the future bond sale in limbo, also left pending any recommendations on how to finance completion of projects already under way, and others on which construction has not yet started.

"Many girls and women wear clothes in public that are too skimpy and too tight," said Ethel Plant. "I wouldn't think of going downtown without wearing hose."

Mrs. Plant, who's been managing the Lupin Lodge nudist camp for 26 years, said she is ready for those who might consider her a prude because of her old-fashioned notions about how people should dress.

"I may be old-fashioned, but I don't think people should appear in public in clothes designed to attract attention," she said. "When everybody's nude, everybody's the same and you can't very well be showing off your body."

Lupin Lodge is a private resort on 119 acres south of here that caters to families who flock there for vacations and weekends.

She said she and her late husband, Ray, became supporters of nudism after reading about it during World War II.

"We liked the freedom of being without clothes, especially in the water. There's nothing worse than a wet bathing suit. Did you ever notice, the swimming pool is the only place people will sit around in wet clothes?"

Mrs. Plant and her husband became joint managers of Lupin Lodge in 1950. She said that after her husband died in 1963 she welcomed the chance to stay on.

"I meet so many interesting people, many more than I would any other place," she said. "Some are the most farout people I know and some are the most prudish people."

"I become confidante to many of our members. People tell me things they say they wouldn't tell anyone else."

Mrs. Plant runs the resort with a staff of six — all of them nude — who do the gardening and cooking, but of course don't have to bother much with laundry.

"Everybody has to be a nudist here," she said. "The only non-nudists are the man who reads the meter and the fellow who delivers the bread."

She said most of her customers are young couples with small children who can join for a yearly family fee of $135. Individual memberships cost $100.

"It's mostly younger people who come here," she said. "Older people aren't apt to do something so unconventional."

Motion picture star Lillian Gish was born in Springfield, Ohio, and her sister Dorothy in Dayton. Both lived for a time in Massillon.

A Page Of Opinion

Overstepping The Bounds

The Law Enforcement Assistance Administration appears to have overstepped its bounds with a regulation prohibiting businesses from screening criminal records of prospective employees.

Frankly, we are astonished that anyone could even propose that business should hire persons without a background check, and agree with the Cincinnati business community in saying it would open the henhouse to the foxes.

Such a regulation is, on the face of it, an unwarranted intrusion into business affairs and should not be allowed to stand.

Even now, some experts in security claim that up to 60 per cent of employees would be dishonest, given the opportunity, which is in itself a shocking statistic.

With an influx of persons of unknown character into financial institutions, department stores, etc. the percentage would be bound to rise.

We suggest the regulation, set to go into effect March 16, be quashed immediately.

By JIM BISHOP

The New Year, for me, was a time of meditation. I drew no joy from blowing a tin horn or gulping booze or tying up long-distance phone lines. I needed an hour alone.

What I dwelled on were the deeds of my life - good and bad. I am not maudlin by nature - a cynical sentimentalist would be closer to the truth. Looking back over the rocks and hot sands of the past, the chilling freezing mountains of events, my brain fills with words like "could have," "would have," "should have."

Success is not measured in personal triumphs; it shines when a man can minimize disasters. When I go, they may chisel "Author-Editor-Columbian" on a headstone, but it will not tell the story. I am, first of all - and last - a family man.

My greatest joys, my deepest sorrows occur within the family. The deaths of my mother, my wife and my mother-in-law within 80 days in 1957 tore my soul from its roots.

Going broke when I decided to quit book publishing and become a freelance writer shook my confidence in myself. I owed three loan companies and every merchant on Cedar Lane in Teaneck, N. J. Slowly, painfully, I continued to write "The Day Lincoln Was Shot" beside a cellar oil burner because there was no other road open.

I should feel a sense of triumph for having written 19 books. Eight were bestsellers. I look at them, sitting in silence on a piano, and I think: "Give me one more shot at any of them and I'll show you how it should be written."

No, the best move I made was to marry Kelly. Nothing matches that event. Nothing in my life is as enduring. Nothing is as musical.

The difference between a bad marriage and a great one is, roughly, the difference between hell and heaven. Nor will I accord her all the bows for making this a notable union - we worked at it.

I don't know how much we have in the bank. Nor do I ask. That's her department. I earn the money; she saves and - or spends it. She permits me to read so-called fan mail - after she reads it. She does not consult me about what to have for dinner. She cooks it.

Kelly has a natural blonde beauty. But that isn't what drew me toward marriage. She has a questing intelligence and a lot of character. Friendship and religion and loyalty are important to her. She believes.

She shops. I golf. She sews. I work. She buys her own Christmas presents, but I must wrap them and write the card. I forget to send flowers. I forget to say "I love you." She forgives me.

She edged into my work uninvited. Kelly studied journalism. By the time we got to the White House to do books on Kennedy and Johnson, she was taking notes on draperies, rugs, bric-a-brac on the president's desk as I was jotting what the man had to say.

We read the same books - me first. When the last of our girls left for college, we began to play backgammon. We also play gin. If I win, I'm a crook. If she wins, it's a blow for "Lib."

She has never been a doormat. And yet, she never dominates me. She comes on insidiously, like perfume on a moonlit night. I find myself saying, "Okay, let's do it your way, but I think you're wrong." This inflates what is left of my machismo.

Perhaps the proper word is that hackneyed one, "partnership." This is what we have going. When we were married, I resolved never to go anywhere without her. As a syndicated columnist, I receive invitations to go here, there, everywhere to cover a story.

Unless the invitation is for two, I will not go. This trims such invitations to a few a year. Our lives are firmly packaged, but not monotonously so. By day I write columns. She shops. At night, I work on the next book. She watches Cannon or Barney Miller.

We dine out once a week. Sometimes we go for a large pizza and a small movie.

When we fight, we do it with no quarter. I can recall four times that I retired without kissing her goodnight. On those occasions, I was mad at myself for starting the dispute.

It is a delightful, scented, poetic life. If whatever talent I have were to slip away today, and I could not write another sentence, I would be happy to live with Kelly in a furnished room...

Business World

NEW YORK (AP) — This is the age of the study committee. In business, government and academic life the phrasing is similar: "The matter was referred to the committee for further study."

If after due study the committee fails to reach a conclusion, it might hand off the problem to a sub-committee, from whence it might then be passed on for further "action" by a foundation or institute, where study is permanent.

Name the subject and it is being studied, but name the subject and the chances are you won't find the answers. Studies raise questions, like beating a rug raises dust, sometimes beclouding rather than clarifying.

And so, in the spirit of not expecting much, a few unanswered questions are hereby cast into this murky oblivion, offered as subjects that might be studied somewhere, sometime, without the least expectation of resolution.

—Is a gentlemen's club a social rather than a business establishment? There is an intriguing tax angle to this.

In some parts of exclusive city "social" clubs, in a taproom perhaps, you are forbidden from writing or shuffling papers on the surface of the table. Such conduct suggests business rather than socializing.

The rules are enforced too, and people so rude as to require reminding are watched carefully and might find themselves asked to leave if they persist in such crude behavior. The line has to be drawn somewhere.

Oddly, almost everyone at one such club on a certain day were gathered for the specific purpose of talking business. Their memberships, in fact, were obtained through business associations. Their firms paid the dues.

When they were through, their checks were offered to the Internal Revenue Service as business lunch tax deductions, and the waiters who enforced the "no business" rule gladly provided receipts for that purpose.

The questions for the study committee are many, of course, but an especially intriguing one is whether this cultural schizophrenia should be recognized by the IRS.

—Who is the mysterious "they," perhaps the most widely quoted alleged authority on everything and anything but who nevertheless remains unknown? A saboteur, perhaps? "They" always seems to have bad news.

One effort to find the elusive "they" led only to more "theys," suggesting the need for a multiple attack, such as can be launched by a committee, rather than a solo effort.

Referring to the economy, a casual informant commented, "They say we're headed for more bad times and...." The informant was interrupted by a question: "Who says we're headed for bad times?" The answer: "Oh, they all say we are."

Who is "they?" He or she must be found.

—Do high interest rates help cause inflation or do they help arrest inflation?

You think you know the answer, but can you prove it? High rates add to the cost of doing business, don't they? And we know that business passes on increased costs to the consumer, right?

Okay, but high interest rates discourage borrowing, agreed? And when borrowing is discouraged there is less inflationary pressure, no? Isn't it true then that high rates arrest existing inflation?

While this really is a very important matter, one that is at the very foundation of the nation's fight for economic stability, can we ever hope for a clearcut, clean-cut answer?

Probably not, and so it makes an ideal question to put to a study committee.

Speaking Of Your Health

An interesting letter came to me from a Mrs. A. M. in California.

Apparently, Mrs. M. had a bad experience with a new drug for arthritis. It caused serious side effects. She wondered how patients could be protected from these unpleasant effects when using a new drug.

Any drug, new or old, taken in small or large quantities, can produce distinct side effects. A chemical as simple as ordinary house salt (sodium chloride) can, in some people, be responsible for unusual side effects.

It is difficult, therefore, to anticipate which drugs will produce unwanted effects. Manufacturers always protect themselves by stating that side reactions may occur in some people.

All physicians who recommend a new drug to patients invariably tell them what they can expect in benefits. They also instruct their patients that if any unusual reaction occurs, the drug should be stopped immediately until there is further consultation.

The prescription of a drug by a doctor and the taking of the drug by the patient is a mutual responsibility. Only the close coordination between the two can prevent serious side reactions.

Delay Sale Of Building Bonds In State

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — A long list of construction projects on Ohio's higher education campuses may be halted and others not started on time as a result of a decision Tuesday by the Ohio Public Facilities Commission.

Ohio Business Outlook Grim

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—According to a survey by the Ohio Manufacturers Association, 27 Ohio firms indicate they plan to move all or part of their operations out of the state this year, an increase of one per cent over a year ago. Thomas R. Johnson, OMA president, said the projected decrease in manufacturing in Ohio is especially disturbing to industrial leaders and economic forecasters. Approximately 35 per cent of the 1,300 members of the Ohio Manufacturers Association were surveyed to determine the number of departures. One per cent indicated they would be moving facilities into Ohio during 1976. One significant result of the survey showed that 70 per cent of the respondents anticipate increased sales and 48 per cent believe that profits will be higher. Most of those answering also believe wages and salaries will continue to increase and that material costs will go up by about 10 per cent. Due to a lack of energy, operations were shut down or production curtailed by 9 per cent of those responding last year, while 6 per cent anticipate closing or reducing operations during 1976 because of energy shortages. The survey also showed that 44 per cent do not have alternate sources of energy and that for the 56 per cent who do have them, fuel oil and propane gas are the most common backup fuels. The survey results show that 8 per cent plan to invest in new plants in Ohio and 14 per cent in other states. Last year's survey showed 11 per cent planned to invest in new plants in Ohio and only 7 per cent in other states. Those responding to the survey indicated that they would be spending 71 per cent of their capital investment budgets out of state. Among the reasons given for lack of investment in Ohio were an unfavorable tax structure, inadequate sources of energy and a general antibusiness climate. The tangible personal property tax was cited by 58 per cent of those responding as being the method of tax assessment in Ohio that affects them most adversely as compared to competition in other states. At the same time, 19 per cent feel the franchise income tax affects them adversely. The survey indicated that 73 per cent plan to maintain the same employment levels during 1976 compared to 77 per cent a year ago; 16 per cent plan to increase employment levels during 1976, up from 10 per cent last year, while 11 per cent plan to reduce employment, the same as in 1975. But 61 per cent of the respondents indicated they had cut employment in 1975 by an average of 18 per cent. The OMA survey showed that 32 per cent plan to decrease their inventory levels in 1976, while 51 per cent anticipate maintaining the same levels as in 1975 and 17 per cent plan to boost inventories. An association spokesman said inventory levels are one of the major economic indicators. Johnson said major problem areas confronting industry in Ohio this year are governmental regulations, energy curtailment and employee productivity. Other problem areas frequently mentioned in the survey, he said, were labor, foreign competition and consumerism.

Group Named In Audit Findings

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — The state auditor is seeking return of $1,683.50 from officers of the Columbiana County Historical Association following an audit from April 1, 1971, to April 30, 1974. One finding for $1,000 was against the estate of treasurer Ray W. Neidengard and the 11 trustees for an un deposited county donation to the association. Another finding for $683.50 was against the same individuals for two cash withdrawals in April and May 1971 from the association savings account.

Dear Abby:

By Abigail Van Buren

Mate May Acquire Taste For Topless

DEAR ABBY: I don't know why that lady was upset because her husband ate lunch at a topless restaurant.

What difference does it make where he gets his appetite as long as he comes home to eat?

BROAD-MINDED IN YAKIMA
DEAR BROAD: Maybe she's afraid he'll work up such a hunger at the restaurant that he'll go back for dinner.

DEAR ABBY: This is my second year as a school teacher. I teach the third grade in a very good public school. At the beginning of the semester I received the following letter from the mother of one of my pupils:

DEAR MS. G —:
I understand that there is a rule at Danny's school stating that the teachers are not allowed to hit the kids.

Well, I am giving you permission to hit my son, Danny, whenever you think he needs it. He is mouthy, stubborn and very mean, and the only thing he understands is a good hit (Not in the head, please) I know him better than you do.

Please keep this letter in case you hit him. It will relieve you of all responsibility in case Danny tries to get away with something. He told me he can do whatever he wants at school because if the teacher lays a hand on him she will get fired. Thank you.

Mrs. T.J. McD.
Abby, is the above letter legal and binding? And should I hit Danny if I think it's necessary?

MS. G —

Cincy Police Slate Vote

CINCINNATI (AP) — Cincinnati police were scheduled to vote tonight

on a final wage proposal offered by the city.

Author Named By Magazine

ATHENS, Ohio (AP) — Author Susan Brownmiller, who wrote "Against Our Will: Men, Women and Rape," and was named one of Time Magazine's 12 women of the year for 1975, will speak at the Ohio University campus Thursday.

Ms. Brownmiller, who prefers that designation, spent four years researching her recently published book which Time called one of the most significant works to come out of the women's movement.

The Fraternal Order of Police said Tuesday night it would submit the final offer to the membership without a recommendation.

Donald Hardin, FOP lawyer, said the police' final offer was rejected by city negotiations, although there was some improvement in fringe benefits.

The fire department and non-uniformed employees have approved 7 per cent wage hikes. The FOP is the last city labor group working without a contract.

City charter requires police and firemen to make the same salary. The base salary won by firemen is $14,624 per year.

Mrs. Willis F. Corcoran, Route 1, Chillicothe, is announcing the engagement and approaching marriage of her daughter, Martha Sue, to Dwight E. Beery. Mr. Beery's parents are Mrs. Betty Beery, Frankfort, and Harold Beery, Amanda.

Miss Corcoran, the daughter of the late Willis F. Corcoran, is a graduate of Zane Trace High School and the Ohio State University with a degree in Home Economics Education. She is a teacher at Mt. Logan Junior High School in Chillicothe.

Mr. Beery is a graduate of Frankfort High School. He attended Ohio University, Chillicothe Branch, and is a former Ross County Deputy Sheriff. He is presently employed at DuPont in Circleville.

The couple will exchange wedding vows during an open church ceremony April 10 in Kingston United Methodist Church.

Rubber Unions Ready Demands

AKRON, Ohio (AP) — The United Rubber Workers union says union leaders from Europe, Australia, Japan and Brazil will join in policy sessions next week as the URW gears up for what are expected to be rugged wage negotiations with the industry.

The URW says the foreign leaders are attending with the aim of forming a coalition to support a strike if one should come.

Contracts expire April 20 for 68,000 workers at Goodyear, Goodrich, Firestone and Uniroyal plants, and the policy committeemen will hammer out specific contract demands in the 10 days of meetings at Cincinnati.

Dear Abby:

By Abigail Van Buren

Mate May Acquire Taste For Topless

DEAR ABBY: I don't know why that lady was upset because her husband ate lunch at a topless restaurant.

What difference does it make where he gets his appetite as long as he comes home to eat?

BROAD-MINDED IN YAKIMA
DEAR ABBY: Maybe she's afraid he'll work up such a hunger at the restaurant that he'll go back for dinner.

DEAR ABBY: This is my second year as a school teacher. I teach the third grade in a very good public school. At the beginning of the semester I received the following letter from the mother of one of my pupils:

DEAR Ms. G —
I understand that there is a rule at Danny's school stating that the teachers are not allowed to hit the kids.

Well, I am giving you permission to hit my son, Danny, whenever you think he needs it. He is mouthy, stubborn and very mean, and the only thing he understands is a good hit (Not in the head, please) I know him better than you do.

Please keep this letter in case you hit him. It will relieve you of all responsibility in case Danny tries to get away with something. He told me he can do whatever he wants at school because if the teacher lays a hand on him she will get fired. Thank you.

Mrs. T.J. McD.

Abby, is the above letter legal and binding? And should I hit Danny if I think it's necessary?

MS. G —

DEAR MS.G —: A lawyer I'm not. The advice from here is: Do not hit Danny or any other child.

DEAR ABBY: My husband and I were watching the news on television the other evening and along came an announcement that a 41-year-old woman had just given birth to a full-term baby only a few minutes after learning that she was pregnant.

The newscaster said that the woman had gained 30 pounds in the last few months, but she didn't know why. But here's the payoff in case you're thinking that the woman was either uneducated or very dumb. She had been working in a doctor's office for the last 17 years!

My husband said it was probably just an attempt at humor on the part of the newscaster. I said it wasn't.

What do you say?

CURIOUS IN N.Y.

DEAR CURIOUS: I say truth is stranger than fiction. It actually happened.

CONFIDENTIAL TO WASHINGTON STAR READER: Figures DO lie. Just because a marriage lasted 50 years doesn't necessarily mean it was "successful." Not all unsuccessful marriages end up in the divorce court.

Cincy Police Slate Vote

CINCINNATI (AP) — Cincinnati police were scheduled to vote tonight

on a final wage proposal offered by the city.

Author Named By Magazine

ATHENS, Ohio (AP) — Author Susan Brownmiller, who wrote "Against Our Will: Men, Women and Rape," and was named one of Time Magazine's 12 women of the year for 1975, will speak at the Ohio University campus Thursday.

Ms. Brownmiller, who prefers that designation, spent four years researching her recently published book which Time called one of the most significant works to come out of the women's movement.

The Fraternal Order of Police said Tuesday night it would submit the final offer to the membership without a recommendation.

Donald Hardin, FOP lawyer, said the police' final offer was rejected by city negotiations, although there was some improvement in fringe benefits.

The fire department and non-uniformed employees have approved 7 per cent wage hikes. The FOP is the last city labor group working without a contract.

City charter requires police and firemen to make the same salary. The base salary won by firemen is $14,624 per year.

Jury Deliberates In Plant Arson Case

NEW HAVEN, Conn. (AP) — A U.S. District Court jury began deliberations today in the trial of nine men accused of plotting to burn down the Sponge Rubber Products Co. factory in nearby Shelton.

The case was turned over to the jury after a federal prosecutor told the panel Tuesday the evidence against the defendants is complicated but conclusive.

The case involves hundreds of documents and telephone records but relies largely on testimony by a 10th defendant who admitted helping set the March 1 explosion at the plant.

"It is a complicated inter-relationship between 10 men that eventually brought the Sponge Rubber plant into a raging inferno," U.S. Atty. Peter C. Dorsey told the 12-member jury in his final argument.

Each defense attorney tried to show during the 12 weeks of testimony and summations that each defendant had been framed. Some even claimed that other arsonists in the case remain free.

Dorsey said the vast web of testimony and papers shows that company President Charles D. Moeller of Cridersville, Ohio, would benefit from insurance claims on the factory because it was a losing operation and therefore directed an adviser to carry out the destruction.

The prosecution's central witness, John W. Shaw of Pittsburgh, Pa.,

testified Moeller's spiritual adviser, the Rev. David N. Bubar of Memphis, Tenn., directed him, six other Pennsylvania men and one from Ohio in placing dynamite and gasoline in the huge building.

Dorsey's final argument prompted all nine defense attorneys to demand a mistrial or directed acquittal on grounds the U.S. attorney had improperly accused the defendants of failing to answer certain evidence. A defendant is not required to prove his innocence.

Judge Jon O. Newman called Dorsey's controversial statements "improper, uncalled for and illegal," but denied the motions, saying they did not appear intentional and citing the length of the trial.

Newman added he might have ruled differently in a trial only one day long. Highlighted in the prosecution's case is testimony or evidence that Peter Betres, a Butler, Pa. hotel owner, received $16,000 funneled from Moeller and the company through Bubar.

The Memphis Baptist minister is accused of organizing six men to set the explosives: Shaw, Dennis C. Tiche and his cousin, Michael J. Tiche, both of Boyers, Pa.; Ronald D. Betres, a distant relative of the hotelman living in Butler; Anthony A. Just of Greensburgh, Pa. and Albert R. Coffey of Cleveland, Ohio.

Donald L. Connors, also of Butler, is accused of taking part in the alleged plot by driving a rental truck loaded with 24 drums of gasoline and two of dynamite from the Pittsburgh area to the Shelton plant.

Just, Coffey and Ronald Betres stayed at a Danbury motel before the explosions, according to motel employees. Their fingerprints were found on a lamp at the motel, the FBI said.

The two Tiches and Shaw are accused of posing as telephone repairmen to enter the plant with Bubar on March 1 to place the explosives.

Connors admitted driving the truck but denied knowing about an arson plot.

Moeller testified Sponge Rubber had begun making a profit just before the fire and that, except for the fire, losses during his company's first year of ownership would have been half of the $2 million deficit he originally expected. Therefore he had no reason to burn down the plant, he said.

The parent company, in which the Ohio millionaire has 58 per cent interest, filed a $63 million insurance claim for damage and business losses caused by the fire.

"He (Moeller) had the insurance and there is indication he would make more in the replacement of it (the plant) than his testimony here would suggest," Dorsey told the jurors.

Bubar, whom the U.S. attorney characterized as "a man Mr. Moeller had complete confidence in," claimed to have used psychic powers to predict the fire several weeks ahead of time.

The minister, founder of a non-sectarian church in Memphis, has gained notice from earlier predictions.

Moeller "knew of the prediction and there's no evidence he took any action to avoid it," Dorsey said.

Bubar has admitted being at the plant on the afternoon of March 1 and accepting a $35,000 payment from Moeller and the company. However he claimed the payment was for his money-saving recommendations involving water bills and said he was at the plant working on a secret water-reclamation process with Moeller's knowledge.

The defense claim of the others is that Shaw framed them in an attempt to get the lightest possible sentence. Witnesses who placed them at or near the Shelton plant were mistaken, their lawyers argued.

Several defense attorneys claimed the FBI also fabricated evidence to get convictions and bolster its deflated image.

The jury was scheduled to begin its deliberations Wednesday after hearing the judge's instructions.

Meanwhile, state officials announced Tuesday that two companies had agreed to buy two Sponge Rubber Products plants that were not damaged in the fire.

The destruction of the plant added about 300 Sponge Rubber employees to the already high unemployment list in the Shelton area. Another 550 lost their jobs when Moeller decided in July to close the entire company after the fire insurance claims were delayed by the trial.

Historic Homestead Measure Pushed

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — The Ohio families who built the state over the past century could officially be recognized under the terms of a bill now pending in the General Assembly.

Legislation sponsored by Sen. Donald E. "Buz" Lukens, R-4 Middletown, would establish the legal category of "historic homestead." Qualified homes would be registered with the Ohio Historical Society and could be marked with an official plaque.

The history involved would not concern wars declared, treaties signed or politicians born. Instead, it would deal with the ordinary folks who settled the young state and built it.

The only qualification for eligibility as an historic homestead would be that the home has been owned or occupied by the same family for at least 100 years.

Dr. Thomas H. Smith, historical society director, said the bill is intended to recognize "the traditional stability of the American family and to recognize the stability of rural life."

"Despite the awareness we have of the great mobility in America today, we have to recognize that there's still these people that have been hanging on, giving this stability to America."

Although longtime families would be honored, it would not be a free honor. Smith said the society simply could not afford to bear the cost of such a program, so a person seeking the designation must pay for it.

The costs would include maintaining the register of historic homesteads, researching the authenticity of claims, mailing forms and making and installing historic homestead plaques.

The plaque would declare the site an historic homestead and would carry an emblem designed by the society.

Smith said he has no idea how many homes might qualify for the designation. But he said when the bill was first drafted, "It was estimated that it would take at least one fulltime person to handle it."

Under the bill's wording, that cost could be passed on to the applicant through a fee.

The bill now is undergoing hearings in a Senate committee.

Jury Deliberates In Plant Arson Case

NEW HAVEN, Conn. (AP) — A U.S. District Court jury began deliberations today in the trial of nine men accused of plotting to burn down the Sponge Rubber Products Co. factory in nearby Shelton.

The case was turned over to the jury after a federal prosecutor told the panel Tuesday the evidence against the defendants is complicated but conclusive.

The case involves hundreds of documents and telephone records but relies largely on testimony by a 10th defendant who admitted helping set the March 1 explosion at the plant.

"It is a complicated interrelationship between 10 men that eventually brought the Sponge Rubber plant into a raging inferno," U.S. Atty. Peter C. Dorsey told the 12-member jury in his final argument.

Each defense attorney tried to show during the 12 weeks of testimony and summations that each defendant had been framed. Some even claimed that other arsonists in the case remain free.

Dorsey said the vast web of testimony and papers shows that company President Charles D. Moeller of Cridersville, Ohio, would benefit from insurance claims on the factory because it was a losing operation and therefore directed an adviser to carry out the destruction.

The prosecution's central witness, John W. Shaw of Pittsburgh, Pa.,

testified Moeller's spiritual adviser, the Rev. David N. Bubar of Memphis, Tenn., directed him, six other Pennsylvania men and one from Ohio in placing dynamite and gasoline in the huge building.

Dorsey's final argument prompted all nine defense attorneys to demand a mistrial or directed acquittal on grounds the U.S. attorney had improperly accused the defendants of failing to answer certain evidence. A defendant is not required to prove his innocence.

Judge Jon O. Newman called Dorsey's controversial statements "improper, uncalled for and illegal," but denied the motions, saying they did not appear intentional and citing the length of the trial.

Newman added he might have ruled differently in a trial only one day long.

Highlighted in the prosecution's case is testimony or evidence that Peter Betres, a Butler, Pa. hotel owner, received $16,000 funneled from Moeller and the company through Bubar.

The Memphis Baptist minister is accused of organizing six men to set the explosives: Shaw, Dennis C. Tiche and his cousin, Michael J. Tiche, both of Boyers, Pa.; Ronald D. Betres, a distant relative of the hotelman living in Butler; Anthony A. Just of Greensburg, Pa. and Albert R. Coffey of Cleveland, Ohio.

Donald L. Connors, also of Butler, is accused of taking part in the alleged plot by driving a rental truck loaded with 24 drums of gasoline and two of dynamite from the Pittsburgh area to the Shelton plant.

Just, Coffey and Ronald Betres stayed at a Danbury motel before the explosions, according to motel employees. Their fingerprints were found on a lamp at the motel, the FBI said.

The two Tiches and Shaw are accused of posing as telephone repairmen to enter the plant with Bubar on March 1 to place the explosives.

Connors admitted driving the truck but denied knowing about an arson plot.

Moeller testified Sponge Rubber had begun making a profit just before the fire and that, except for the fire, losses during his company's first year of ownership would have been half of the $2 million deficit he originally expected. Therefore he had no reason to burn down the plant, he said.

The parent company, in which the Ohio millionaire has 58 per cent interest, filed a $63 million insurance claim for damage and business losses caused by the fire.

"He (Moeller) had the insurance and there is indication he would make more in the replacement of it (the plant) than his testimony here would suggest," Dorsey told the jurors.

Bubar, whom the U.S. attorney characterized as "a man Mr. Moeller had complete confidence in," claimed to have used psychic powers to predict the fire several weeks ahead of time.

The minister, founder of a non-sectarian church in Memphis, has gained notice from earlier predictions.

Moeller "knew of the prediction and there's no evidence he took any action to avoid it," Dorsey said.

Bubar has admitted being at the plant on the afternoon of March 1 and accepting a $35,000 payment from Moeller and the company. However he claimed the payment was for his money-saving recommendations involving water bills and said he was at the plant working on a secret water-reclamation process with Moeller's knowledge.

The defense claim of the others is that Shaw framed them in an attempt to get the lightest possible sentence. Witnesses who placed them at or near the Shelton plant were mistaken, their lawyers argued.

Several defense attorneys claimed the FBI also fabricated evidence to get convictions and bolster its deflated image.

The jury was scheduled to begin its deliberations Wednesday after hearing the judge's instructions.

Meanwhile, state officials announced Tuesday that two companies had agreed to buy two Sponge Rubber Products plants that were not damaged in the fire.

The destruction of the plant added about 300 Sponge Rubber employees to the already high unemployment list in the Shelton area. Another 550 lost their jobs when Moeller decided in July to close the entire company after the fire insurance claims were delayed by the trial.

Ohio Manufacturing To Drop

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Manufacturing jobs will be declining in Ohio as employment in service industries makes the greatest gains during the next 10 years, according to a recently published study by an Ohio State University researcher.

Professor James C. Yocum said manufacturing will not regain the key status it traditionally has held in the state's employment picture and the greatest growth in employment will be in the professional services through 1985.

But Yocum feels manufacturing will recover ground lost in the 1973-75 recession.

But despite this recovery, Yocum predicted, in 10 years manufacturing will provide only about 33 per cent of Ohio's jobs, compared with the slightly more than 38 per cent supplied by the manufacturing industry in 1960.

He called manufacturing "the most important area of employment in Ohio, not only because of its size—in 1970, 1,454,000 persons employed, 35.3 per cent of the state total, compared to only 24 per cent in the U.S.—but because as a basic 'exporting' industry, it has tremendous job generating importance for the 'local' service industries, trades and professions of the state."

Yocum said manufacturing will "continue to drop in relative importance through 1985."

According to Yocum's projections, service industries will account for an increase of some 780,000 jobs in the state during the decade. This category takes in hospitals and health-related fields, transportation, commu-

Open Hearing On Ballots

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Hearings began in the House State Government Committee Tuesday night on a bill to preclude the need for so-called bedsheet ballots at Ohio presidential primary elections.

Rep. Don Maddux, D-90 Lancaster, said he hopes his bill can be enacted in time apply to Ohio's June 8 primary. Identical legislation has been introduced in the Senate in an effort to speed deliberation.

James Marsh, assistant secretary of state, discounted testimony from the League of Women Voters and others that the proposal, involving so-called block voting, might run afoul of certain constitutional language that was left undisturbed Nov. 4 when voters authorized doing away with bedsheet ballots.

"The bill is going to require some amendments, but we're working on them. I don't see any problems," Marsh said.

Under Maddux's bill, voters at primary elections could vote for groups of delegates pledged to the presidential candidate of their choice, rather than having to vote individually for candidates to national political conventions.

The bill was held for further hearings.

nications, public utilities, wholesale and retail trade, business services, finance, insurance, real estate, entertainment and recreation, education and nonprofit organizations.

Yocum said in his article in the "Bulletin of Business Research," published by Ohio State, "that the Ohio economy, as the U.S. as a whole, is becoming a 'service economy' is not new; that the trend will continue is universally expected."

"In total, the three classifications of services (service industries and trade, professional services and personal services) will account for 54.8 per cent of Ohio resident employment in 1985, up from 51.3 per cent in 1970."

The veteran analyst sees more jobs in mining and construction, but expects substantial decreases in agriculture, forestry and fishing in the state. He adds that he expects federal, state and local governments will provide an increasing number of jobs up until 1985, when that trend will level off.

His projections for 1985 assume that state programs of some sort will have begun to counter erosion in Ohio manufacturing relative to all U.S. manufacturing.

Since Ohio's economic and population growth have been changing from a rate paralleling that of the U.S. as a whole to a "very slow growth or no-growth condition," Yocum suggests that it would not be inappropriate for the state to sponsor "judicious programs of incentives for manufacturing location and investment."

EPA Coordinator To Speak At Planning Meeting

Carl Wilhelm, chief environment planning coordinator of Ohio EPA will explain federally required water quality plan for the area at the Pickaway County Regional Planning Commission meeting 8 p.m. Tuesday.

The meeting is scheduled to be held in the commissioners office in the courthouse but if attendance warrants, will be moved to the common pleas courtroom.

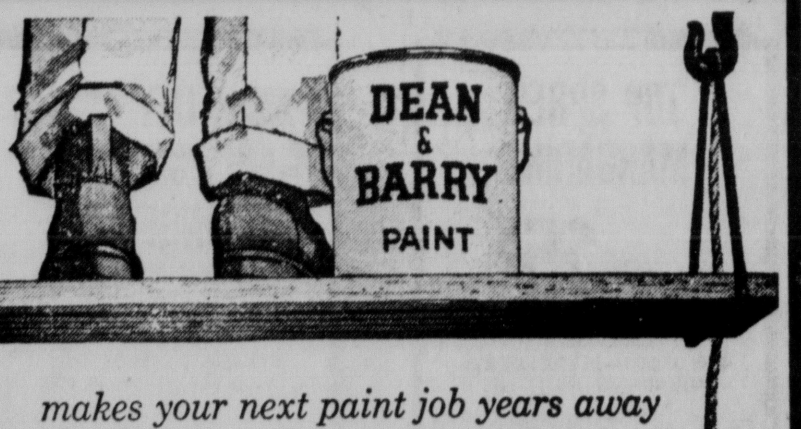

The federal law requires the plan to be underway by July 1. It will develop control measures for non-point sources of pollution, include industrial treatment works, utilize land-use planning or regulatory changes as a control measure, coordinate with other area-wide programs such as air quality, solid waste and transportation.

Most important, the plan will define the management structure responsible for implementation. This could range from a single agency to a number of agencies and government organizations.

The implementing agency or agencies resulting from the completed plan must have the legal authority to take whatever actions are necessary to carry out the plan. Inclusion of this management provision guarantees enforcement.

Ohio Manufacturing To Drop

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Manufacturing jobs will be declining in Ohio as employment in service industries makes the greatest gains during the next 10 years, according to a recently published study by an Ohio State University researcher.

Professor James C. Yocum said manufacturing will not regain the key status it traditionally has held in the state's employment picture and the greatest growth in employment will be in the professional services through 1985.

But Yocum feels manufacturing will recover ground lost in the 1973-75 recession.

But despite this recovery, Yocum predicted, in 10 years manufacturing will provide only about 33 per cent of Ohio's jobs, compared with the slightly more than 38 per cent supplied by the manufacturing industry in 1960.

He called manufacturing "the most important area of employment in Ohio, not only because of its size—in 1970, 1,454,000 persons employed, 35.3 per cent of the state total, compared to only 24 per cent in the U.S.—but because as a basic 'exporting' industry, it has tremendous job generating importance for the 'local' service industries, trades and professions of the state."

Yocum said manufacturing will "continue to drop in relative importance through 1985."

According to Yocum's projections, service industries will account for an increase of some 780,000 jobs in the state during the decade. This category

Open Hearing On Ballots

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Hearings began in the House State Government Committee Tuesday night on a bill to preclude the need for so-called bedsheet ballots at Ohio presidential primary elections.

Rep. Don Maddux, D-90 Lancaster, said he hopes his bill can be enacted in time apply to Ohio's June 8 primary. Identical legislation has been introduced in the Senate in an effort to speed deliberation.

James Marsh, assistant secretary of state, discounted testimony from the League of Women Voters and others that the proposal, involving so-called block voting, might run afoul of certain constitutional language that was left undisturbed Nov. 4 when voters authorized doing away with bedsheet ballots.

"The bill is going to require some amendments, but we're working on them. I don't see any problems," Marsh said.

Under Maddux's bill, voters at primary elections could vote for groups of delegates pledged to the presidential candidate of their choice, rather than having to vote individually for candidates to national political conventions.

The bill was held for further hearings.

nications, public utilities, wholesale and retail trade, business services, finance, insurance, real estate, entertainment and recreation, education and nonprofit organizations.

Yocum said in his article in the "Bulletin of Business Research," published by Ohio State, "that the Ohio economy, as the U.S. as a whole, is becoming a 'service economy' is not new; that the trend will continue is universally expected."

"In total, the three classifications of services (service industries and trade, professional services and personal services) will account for 54.8 per cent of Ohio resident employment in 1985, up from 51.3 per cent in 1970."

The veteran analyst sees more jobs in mining and construction, but expects substantial decreases in agriculture, forestry and fishing in the state. He adds that he expects federal, state and local governments will provide an increasing number of jobs up until 1985, when that trend will level off.

His projections for 1985 assume that state programs of some sort will have begun to counter erosion in Ohio manufacturing relative to all U.S. manufacturing.

Since Ohio's economic and population growth have been changing from a rate paralleling that of the U.S. as a whole to a "very slow growth or no-growth condition," Yocum suggests that it would not be inappropriate for the state to sponsor "judicious programs of incentives for manufacturing location and investment."

By MRS. A. B. WYNKOOP — 474-5922

Mr. and Mrs. Darrel Conrad of near Circleville visited his parents Mr. and Mrs. G. C. Conrad Saturday.

Mr. and Mrs. Gene Wynkoop of Buckeye Lake and grandson Matthew Noble visited Mrs. A. B. Wynkoop Monday afternoon.

Mr. and Mrs. Herbert Floyd and Jack Arledge visited Mr. and Mrs. Melvin Dett and Henry and Mrs. Robert Stevenson and Tod of near Laurelville Tuesday.

EPA Coordinator To Speak At Planning Meeting

Mr. and Mrs. Robert Metzger and Michael of Columbus visited Mrs. Harry Metzger Friday evening.

Carl Wilhelm, chief environment planning coordinator of Ohio EPA will explain federally required water quality plan for the area at the Pickaway County Regional Planning Commission meeting 8 p.m. Tuesday.

Mr. and Mrs. Robert Reichelderfer of Cincinnati were Saturday guests of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Gray.

The meeting is scheduled to be held in the commissioners office in the courthouse but if attendance warrants, will be moved to the common pleas courtroom.

Mr. and Mrs. G. C. Conrad were the Sunday supper guests of Mr. and Mrs. Floyd Hughey and daughters.

The federal law requires the plan to be underway by July 1. It will develop control measures for non-point sources of pollution, include industrial treatment works, utilize land-use planning or regulatory changes as a control measure, coordinate with other area-wide programs such as air quality, solid waste and transportation.

Saturday and Sunday visitors at the Herbert Floyd home were Mr. and Mrs. Guy Allison, Robin and Donna, Shelia Lutz, Mr. and Mrs. Ronald Harrison and Tara of Circleville and Mr. and Mrs. Robert Floyd.

Most important, the plan will define the management structure responsible for implementation. This could range from a single agency to a number of agencies and government organizations.

The implementing agency or agencies resulting from the completed plan must have the legal authority to take whatever actions are necessary to carry out the plan. Inclusion of this management provision guarantees enforcement.

Tigers Handed First Loss By Madison Plains, 66-63

By TOM SPRING
Herald Sports Editor

The Circleville Tigers were stopped by Madison Plains Tuesday night when they took an early third quarter lead and hung on to beat the visiting Red and Black cage team 66-63. Dreams of another consecutive undefeated season went down the drain as six Tiger seniors experienced their first defeat in 55 regular season games dating back to when the lads last lost in a ninth grade basketball game.

According to Madison Plains coach Steve Stewart, the game plan was to contain the ball, keep turnovers down and eliminate other mistakes. Circleville led in practically every statistical department, usually doubling their opponents, except the two crucial ones - shooting percentages.

Circleville hit on only 17 of 32 shots from the field in the second half for 53 per cent while their opponents shot an astounding 77 per cent connecting on 17 of 22 attempts.

Overall, Circleville hit 31 of 56 from the field for a 55.3 per cent average while Madison Plains ripped the cords on 31 of 50 for 62.0 per cent.

Circleville only added one of six free throw attempts, while the Eagles hit 4 of 11 from the charity stripe.

Taking scoring honors with 20 points apiece were Rick Timmons and Dave Wilson of Madison Plains and Biff Bumgarner of Circleville.

Gary Self added 14 for the Eagles, Doug Sifrit hooped seven and Dave Saunders tallied five.

George Moore added 15 markers, Frank Merrill, canned 12, and Brent Mancini and Mike McCoy who each netted eight. The only big bright spot for the Tigers was Moore who hooped seven of eight shots from the field for 88 per cent. No other Tiger reached above fifty per cent.

Circleville out-rebounded Madison Plains 26-24. In the turnover department, the Tigers misplayed the ball nine times, while the Eagles turned it over 20 times.

The first quarter belonged to Circleville as Bumgarner and Moore scored 14 points and the Red and Black took a 16-11 lead.

In the second period, the Eagles rolled off 10 straight points to take a 28-24 lead at 3:38. The teams traded buckets, and Madison Plains was ahead at half-time, 32-29.

Madison Plains ran against a 2-1-2 Tiger zone, connecting on eight of their first ten shots. The Tigers, in contrast, hit eight of 18 attempts. The Eagles scored 10 points in three-and-a-half minutes while holding Circleville to only two in the time span.

Circleville trailed by seven 46-39 at 1:50, but a corner shot by Moore and drives on fast breaks by McCoy brought the Tigers to within three, 48-45, at the buzzer.

Both teams broke loose in the fourth canto, as each raced to see who could get the ball down the court and pump it into the basket. Circleville kept within one, matching each bucket until after the four minute mark when the Eagles put in three straight buckets, the last at 2:01, by picking up key rebounds and reaching the hoop ahead of the Tiger defenders. This made the score 64-57.

Frank Merrill came up with a steal at 1:25 and drove for two, and McCoy managed a corner shot at 1:06 to make it 66-61. Merrill's aggressive play in the final seconds gave his teammates three more scoring opportunities but the Tigers couldn't quite manage it and lost in a thriller, 66-63.

Officials for the game were Steve Skeldon and former National League baseball umpire Satch Davidson.

Eagles Coach Steve Stewart exclaimed, "This is the best we've moved the ball all year. We passed to the open man and did a good job in the second half. We kept turnovers down for the first time."

"We lost several close games this year and haven't played up to our potential all year until tonight. And with no starters left from last year's team a lot of people came of age this evening," Stewart said.

Stewart commented, "The key to the ball game was getting Bumgarner in foul trouble. He couldn't work inside as he normally does and Circleville was in trouble. But they're an excellent team."

Circleville's coach, Jim Bailey, remarked, "Madison Plains played exceptionally well. We could have played better defense than we did. This is the poorest shooting percentage we've had all year. The defense had to carry us but we didn't get outstanding defense."

Circleville is now 6-1 in the South Central Ohio League, 8-1 on the year. Madison Plains raises its league record to 3-4. Circleville will travel to Unioto Friday for another league game.

LE Undefeated Through First Half Of Mid State Schedule

Logan Elm Braves reached the half-way point in their Mid State League basketball schedule Tuesday and remained undefeated with a 70-55 decision over host Amanda-Clearcreek.

The Braves start the second half of the league schedule Friday hosting Canal Winchester, last year's champions. Sporting a 7-0 league record, LE is 8-2 overall.

"That final score wasn't indicative of the way we played last night," according to coach Asa Bradbury. "We played the best second half of the year last night and got up by as many as 27 points in the fourth quarter when we cleared the bench with over six minutes to play."

The game was deadlocked at 12-12 at the end of the first quarter and at halftime the Braves held a 32-30 margin. But they exploded in the third to outscore Amanda-Clearcreek 25-3 in the third quarter to take a 56-33 advantage.

"We had a tremendous night on the boards. At the beginning of the year we felt that our rebounding was one part of the game that had to improve, and we haven't been outrebounded all year, even in our two losses," Bradbury said. The Braves outrebounded the Aces 41-31 with Mike Miller grabbing 12, Jeff Reichelderfer nine and Chuck Cave eight. "They were limited to just one shot every time they came down the floor," according to the

LE coach.

But he was disappointed in the turnovers committed by the Braves last night when they threw the ball away 24 times, compared to 19 for the Aces. "The thing we have to do for the rest of the year is cut down on those turnovers," he said.

The Braves did not have a particularly good shooting average, making 28 of 80 from the field for a 35 per cent accuracy rate, but it was the most shots taken by the Braves this year. Amanda made 23 of 66 for a 35 per cent average.

At the foul line the Braves connected on 14 of 22, a 64 per cent rate while the aces made only nine of 22 charity chances.

Bradbury commended the Braves' floor game, particularly the play of the guards, noting that seven assists from the guards played a key role in the running game that sparked the third quarter surge. Scott Allen and Mark Skinner had three assists each and Steve Rawlins two. In addition, Cave and Reichelderfer both had two assists.

In the scoring department, Reichelderfer led with 19 markers. He got double figure support from Miller who tallied 14 and Skinner who had 10. Rounding out the scoring, Allen chipped in seven, Cave six, Rawlins five, Lonnie Maxson, Dave Dean, Bob Sargent two each and Randy Strous three.

For Amanda, Starnes scored 12, all in the first half, and Nye 13.

The Logan Elm Braves handed the little Aces their first loss of the season, 41-40. Going into the game the Amanda-Clearcreek reserves had an 8-0 overall record and a 5-0 league mark.

For the young Braves, Jeff Collins and Doug Woods scored 11 each, Rock Higgins and Jerry Scanlon six each, John Mettler four and Mike Patrick three. Woods scored a key basket with 30 seconds to go to put LE ahead by three points. Nick Dampopoulos, reserve coach, reported the play of Scanlon, out since Christmas with an injury, and John Mettler, starting for the first time last night, played a key role in the victory.

Muskingum Defeats Capital, 55-49

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

"We changed our defensive pattern and that was the story," Muskingum basketball Coach Jim Burson said after the Muskies rallied to defeat Capital 55-49 Tuesday night.

"We inserted Jeff Diehl to give us a lift defensively and he did the job," Burson said of the strong finish, which gave Muskingum sole possession of first place in the Ohio Conference Southern Division.

Trailing 49-43 with 10 minutes remaining to play, the Muskies went on a 12-point scoring spree while blanking the Crusaders the rest of the way to notch their third league triumph in as many games.

That gave Muskingum a halfgame edge over second place Otterbein (2-0), who was playing outside the conference while whipping Ashland 93-69.

In other conference action, Heidelberg gained a half-game over Wooster at the top of the Northern Division standings with a 77-60 victory over Kenyon. Wooster was idle.

Heidelberg shot 54 per cent from the field and had a 39-28 rebounding edge while improving its record to 3-0. Mark Chrislip paced the winners with 20 points while Tim Appleton of Kenyon (0-3) took game scoring honors with 29 points.

Ohio Northern downed Northern Division foe Baldwin-Wallace 76-65 as Al Donhoff poured in 24 points. The triumph upped Ohio Northern's conference record to 2-1 while B-W remains winless in two league contests.

Also in Northern Division play, Oberlin recorded its first league victory in three games with a 65-57 verdict over Mount Union. Mount Union dropped to a 2-1 mark.

Elsewhere, Anderson, Ind., defeated Defiance 81-76 in a Hoosier-Buckeye Conference game, Cedarville trounced Mount Vernon Nazarene 99-75 in a Mid-Ohio Conference contest, and Hiram bounced Thiel 65-51 in Presidents Conference action.

Bengals Ponder Draft Choices

CINCINNATI (AP) — Bill Johnson says the Cincinnati Bengals head toward next month's National Football League draft searching for help in "two or three spots from someone who can dominate a position."

Johnson, who inherits an 11-3 club from Paul Brown, said he is busy discussing with his staff what Bengals will be among 13 made available for the NFL expansion draft next week.

He said the Bengals won't know their primary needs until the losses of the allocation draft can be determined.

The Bengals, with an extra first round draft this year, are reportedly considering a top defensive lineman and a quick running back among their priorities.

"Nothing has been finalized and likely won't be until after the expansion draft," said Johnson, who has assembled his coaching staff to scour films for college talent.

"In the final analysis, Paul has control of these matters," he said. Johnson said the Bengals will continue Brown's philosophy of building through the draft. The club currently has 13 No. 1 draft picks on it.

"The program here has been built on the draft system and I think it will continue that way," said the 49-year-old former center for the San Francisco 49ers.

"That's where you get the blue-chippers," he said.

The Bengals will be allowed to freeze 30 players on their 43-man roster for the expansion draft. Tampa and Seattle will stock their teams with talent available from the 26 NFL clubs, along with draft choices.

It is the NFL's first expansion draft since the Bengals were formed eight years ago.

Johnson said he is pleased with the addition of new coaches Mike McCormack and Charlie Winner, a pair of ex-NFL head coaches "who bring a lot of experience and character to our staff."

McCormack, fired at Philadelphia last month, steps into Johnson's former job as offensive line coach. Winner, who was dismissed by the New York Jets in November after a season and a half, will handle the defensive backfield.

"They give us a lot of different opinions. Mike's experience as a head coach will help and Charlie, during his 12 years with the Baltimore Colts, formed an outstanding defensive secondary," Johnson said.

They join holdovers Howard Brinker, who has been elevated to defensive coordinator; Bill Walsh, who has the new title of offensive coordinator; and defensive line coach Chuck Studley and backfield coach Jack Donaldson.

CHS Reserves Take Thriller From Eagles

The Circleville reserve team defeated Madison Plains 52-51 in a double-overtime thriller Tuesday at Madison Plains that left the capacity crowd trying to start their hearts beating again.

The little Tigers saw their four-point third period lead vanish with 28 seconds left in regulation time as the Eagles pulled ahead 37-36. But Tim Milstead threw up a free throw good for a tie, and the Tigers stole the ball to prevent an upset, and put the game in overtime.

Mark Albright and "Huffy" Huffer countered Eagle baskets to keep the score knotted in the next frame, but at 1:04, Tom Richardson sank the first of four consecutive free throws to pull Madison Plains ahead 45-41.

But, Huffer sank a bucket at 0:42 and Mark Beck saved the game at the buzzer with his only bucket of the night to tie 45-45.

The game looked as if it would never end. In the second overtime the Plains tied it up 51-51 with 19 seconds left, but a foul to Mark Albright gave him a free throw at 0:02. He made it, and the game was history.

Coach Denny Stewart's Tigers led 6-4 in the first frame, 16-14 at halftime, and 30-26 after three quarters.

The Tigers got balanced scoring as Tim Milstead and Mike Brudzinski each hit 12, Mark Albright and Roy Huffer sank 11 apiece, Mike Edgington netted four and Mark Beck tallied two.

Tom Richardson led the Eagles with 19.

Bill Walsh Quits As Bengals Coach

CINCINNATI (AP) — Bill Walsh, described by Cincinnati Bengals quarterback Ken Anderson as "a super mind," has resigned as offensive coordinator of the National Football League team and been replaced by former Green Bay Packer great Boyd Dowler.

Walsh's resignation came as a surprise, since he was promoted to offensive coordinator less than a week ago.

Walsh, 44, has been credited with the fast development of Anderson, who recently became the first NFL quarterback in 14 years to win back-to-back passing titles.

Walsh was the second member of Paul Brown's former staff to resign since Bill Johnson was elevated to head coach. Brown, now general manager, said Walsh wants to return to the west coast.

Walsh, who did most of the play-calling for the Bengals since joining them in 1968 as quarterback-receiver coach, told The Associated Press he has not decided whether he will continue in pro football or "in another direction."

Walsh was an assistant with the Oakland Raiders in 1967 before joining the Bengals. As the Bengals' chief offensive signal caller, he produced three NFL passing champions: Virgil

Carter in 1970 and Anderson, who won it the past two seasons.

Dowler, 38, is the third new assistant to join Cincinnati. Brown has hired ex-NFL head coaches Mike McCormack and Charlie Winner in the past week.

Dowler served under McCormack at Philadelphia this past season and previously handled similar positions with the Los Angeles Rams and the Washington Redskins.

The 11-year NFL vet was an All-Pro wide receiver for Vince Lombardi's three world championship clubs.

Chuck Weber, defensive backfield coach of the Bengals for five years, resigned last week. He was replaced by Winner, former head coach of the New York Jets and St. Louis Cards.

Chuck Goodyear Top MAC Player

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Miami forward Chuck Goodyear, who accounted for 42 points in two league victories last week, has been selected the Mid-American Conference basketball Player of the Week.

The 6-foot-5 junior from Columbus, Ohio, hit 23 points against Toledo and followed with 19 against Northern Illinois. He edged Ron Hammye of Bowling Green for the honor.

The team includes three varsity letter winners back from last year and six girls who were awarded letters on last year's reserve team.

Back from last year's varsity are: Sue Crist, 5-foot-2, guard, senior; Darla Hughes, 5-foot-6, forward, senior; and Lisa Leahy, 5-foot-6, guard, senior.

Moving up from the reserve team are: Wanda Boyd, 5-foot-6½, forward, junior; Linda Holveck, 5-foot-6, center, senior; Nancy Radcliff, 5-foot-1, guard, senior; Sue Radcliff, 5-foot-2, guard, junior; Kelly Steele, 5-foot-5, forward, junior; and Sue Stevenson, 6-foot, center, junior.

Natalie Martin, 5-foot-7, sophomore forward, rounds out the 10-member varsity.

The girls reserve squad, coached by Karen Rafeld, is comprised of: Melissa Allison, Kathy Fanale, Denise Fath, Sue Frickicks, Beth Harmount, Tammy Merrill, Vickie Morrison, Michelle Nolan, Mary Wyatt and Sue Uland.

Both the varsity and reserve teams are 2-0 for the season with wins over Miami Trace and Hillsboro.

Tigers Handed First Loss By Madison Plains, 66-63

By TOM SPRING
Herald Sports Writer

The Circleville Tigers were stopped by Madison Plains Tuesday night when they took an early third quarter lead and hung on to beat the visiting Red and Black cage team 66-63. Dreams of another consecutive undefeated season went down the drain as six Tiger seniors experienced their first defeat in 55 regular season games dating back to when the lads last lost in a ninth grade basketball game.

According to Madison Plains coach Steve Stewart, the game plan was to contain the ball, keep turnovers down and eliminate other mistakes.

Circleville led in practically every statistical department, usually doubling their opponents, except the two crucial ones - shooting percentages.

Circleville hit on only 17 of 32 shots from the field in the second half for 53 per cent while their opponents shot an astounding 77 per cent connecting on 17 of 22 attempts.

Overall, Circleville hit 31 of 56 from the field for a 55.3 per cent average while Madison Plains ripped the cords on 31 of 50 for 62.0 per cent.

Circleville only added one of six free throw attempts, while the Eagles hit 4 of 11 from the charity stripe.

Taking scoring honors with 20 points apiece were Rick Timmons and Dave Wilson of Madison Plains and Biff Bumgarner of Circleville.

Gary Self added 14 for the Eagles, Doug Sifrit hooped seven and Dave Saunders tallied five.

George Moore added 15 markers, Frank Merrill, canned 12, and Brent Mancini and Mike McCoy who each netted eight. The only big bright spot for the Tigers was Moore who hooped seven of eight shots from the field for 88 per cent. No other Tiger reached above fifty per cent.

Circleville out-rebounded Madison Plains 26-24. In the turnover department, the Tigers misplayed the ball nine times, while the Eagles turned it over 20 times.

The first quarter belonged to Circleville as Bumgarner and Moore scored 14 points and the Red and Black took a 16-11 lead.

In the second period, the Eagles rolled off 10 straight points to take a 28-24 lead at 3:38. The teams traded buckets, and Madison Plains was ahead at half-time, 32-29.

Madison Plains ran against a 2-1-2 Tiger zone, connecting on eight of their first ten shots. The Tigers, in contrast, hit eight of 18 attempts. The Eagles scored 10 points in three-and-a-half minutes while holding Circleville to only two in the time span.

Circleville trailed by seven 46-39 at 1:50, but a corner shot by Moore and drives on fast breaks by McCoy brought the Tigers to within three, 48-45, at the buzzer.

Both teams broke loose in the fourth canto, as each raced to see who could get the ball down the court and pump it into the basket. Circleville kept within one, matching each bucket until after the four minute mark when the Eagles put in three straight buckets, the last at 2:01, by picking up key rebounds and reaching the hoop ahead of the Tiger defenders. This made the score 64-57.

Frank Merrill came up with a steal at 1:25 and drove for two, and McCoy managed a corner shot at 1:06 to make it 66-61. Merrill's aggressive play in the final seconds gave his teammates three more scoring opportunities but the Tigers couldn't quite manage it and lost in a thriller, 66-63.

Officials for the game were Steve Skeldon and former National League baseball umpire Satch Davidson.

Eagles Coach Steve Stewart exclaimed, "This is the best we've moved the ball all year. We passed to the open man and did a good job in the second half. We kept turnovers down for the first time."

"We lost several close games this year and haven't played up to our potential all year until tonight. And with no starters left from last year's team a lot of people came of age this evening," Stewart said.

Stewart commented, "The key to the ball game was getting Bumgarner in foul trouble. He couldn't work inside as he normally does and Circleville was in trouble. But they're an excellent team."

Circleville's coach, Jim Bailey, remarked, "Madison Plains played exceptionally well. We could have played better defense than we did. This is the poorest shooting percentage we've had all year. The defense had to carry us but we didn't get outstanding defense."

Circleville is now 6-1 in the South Central Ohio League, 8-1 on the year. Madison Plains raises its league record to 3-4. Circleville will travel to Unioto Friday for another league game.

LE Undefeated Through First Half Of Mid State Schedule

Logan Elm Braves reached the halfway point in their Mid State League basketball schedule Tuesday and remained undefeated with a 70-55 decision over host Amanda-Clearcreek.

The Braves start the second half of the league schedule Friday hosting Canal Winchester, last year's champions. Sporting a 7-0 league record, LE is 8-2 overall.

"That final score wasn't indicative of the way we played last night," according to coach Asa Bradbury. "We played the best second half of the year last night and got up by as many as 27 points in the fourth quarter when we cleared the bench with over six minutes to play."

The game was deadlocked at 12-12 at the end of the first quarter and at halftime the Braves held a 32-30 margin. But they exploded in the third to outscore Amanda-Clearcreek 25-3 in the third quarter to take a 56-33 advantage.

"We had a tremendous night on the boards. At the beginning of the year we felt that our rebounding was one part of the game that had to improve, and we haven't been outrebounded all year, even in our two losses," Bradbury said. The Braves outrebounded the Aces 41-31 with Mike Miller grabbing 12, Jeff Reichelderfer nine and Chuck Cave eight. "They were limited to just one shot everytime they came down the floor," according to the

LE coach.

But he was disappointed in the turnovers committed by the Braves last night when they threw the ball away 24 times, compared to 19 for the Aces. "The thing we have to do for the rest of the year is cut down on those turnovers," he said.

The Braves did not have a particularly good shooting average, making 28 of 80 from the field for a 35 per cent accuracy rate, but it was the most shots taken by the Braves this year. Amanda made 23 of 66 for a 35 per cent average.

At the foul line the Braves connected on 14 of 22, a 64 per cent rate while the Aces made only nine of 22 charity chances.

Bradbury commended the Braves' floor game, particularly the play of the guards, noting that seven assists from the guards played a key role in the running game that sparked the third quarter surge. Scott Allen and Mark Skinner had three assists each and Steve Rawlins two. In addition, Cave and Reichelderfer both had two assists.

In the scoring department, Reichelderfer led with 19 markers. He got double figure support from Miller who tallied 14 and Skinner who had 10. Rounding out in seven, Cave six, Rawlins five, Lonnie Maxson, Dave Dean, Bob Sargent two each and Randy Strous three.

For Amanda, Starnes scored 12, all in the first half, and Nye 13.

The Logan Elm Braves handed the little Aces their first loss of the season, 41-40. Going into the game the Amanda-Clearcreek reserves had an 8-0 overall record and a 5-0 league mark.

For the young Braves, Jeff Collins and Doug Woods scored 11 each, Rock Higgins and Jerry Scanlon six each, John Metler four and Mike Patrick three. Woods scored a key basket with 30 seconds to go to put LE ahead by three points. Nick Damopoulos, reserve coach, reported the play of Scanlon, out since Christmas with an injury, and John Mettler, starting for the first time last night, played a key role in the victory.

CINCINNATI (AP) — Bill Walsh, described by Cincinnati Bengals quarterback Ken Anderson as "a super mind," has resigned as offensive coordinator of the National Football League team and been replaced by former Green Bay Packer guard Boyd Dowler.

Walsh's resignation came as a surprise, since he was promoted to offensive coordinator less than a week ago.

Walsh, 44, has been credited with the fast development of Anderson, who recently became the first NFL quarterback in 14 years to win back-to-back passing titles.

Walsh was the second member of Paul Brown's former staff to resign since Bill Johnson was elevated to head coach. Brown, now general manager, said Walsh wants to return to the west coast.

Walsh, who did most of the play-calling for the Bengals since joining them in 1968 as quarterback-receiver coach, told The Associated Press he has not decided whether he will continue in pro football or "in another direction."

Walsh was an assistant with the Oakland Raiders in 1967 before joining the Bengals. As the Bengals' chief offensive signal caller, he produced three NFL passing champions: Virgil

Carter in 1970 and Anderson, who won it the past two seasons.

Dowler, 38, is the third new assistant to join Cincinnati. Brown has hired ex-NFL head coaches Mike McCormack and Charlie Winner in the past week.

Dowler served under McCormack at Philadelphia this past season and previously handled similar positions with the Los Angeles Rams and the Washington Redskins.

The 11-year NFL vet was an All-Pro wide receiver for Vince Lombardi's three world championship clubs.

Chuck Weber, defensive backfield coach of the Bengals for five years, resigned last week. He was replaced by Winner, former head coach of the New York Jets and St. Louis Cards.

Your Horoscope

By FRANCIS DRAKE

Look in the section in which your birthday comes and find what your outlook is, according to the stars.

FOR THURSDAY

ARIES (Mar. 21 to Apr. 20): The Aries likes room for action, new projects, the means to improve any undesirable situations. This day provides the opportunity for all of these. You should accomplish a great deal.

TAURUS (Apr. 21 to May 21): A certain amount of daring could prove profitable, but don't let your imagination run out of bounds. The Taurean is usually foregone. May he be so now!

GEMINI (May 22 to June 21): Restraint and control of the emotions needed in discussions. Listen to all and judge objectively. Leave out personalities and conjecture. Don't let the "double talk" of others confuse you.

CANCER (June 22 to July 23): Without realizing it, you may be a victim of your own fears and misgivings. Pull yourself together. This is a day which calls for clear thinking and definite action. Delays could prove costly.

LEO (July 24 to Aug. 23): Be careful how you invest both time and money. No matter how enticing a new proposition may sound, give it careful thought. You could be taken in by rosy promises, if not on guard.

VIRGO (Aug. 24 to Sept. 23): There will be much contriving and maneuvering for best position. Don't be left at the post. Achievement is possible in out-of-the-ordinary ways and places. Be resourceful.

LIBRA (Sept. 24 to Oct. 23): It may be advisable to slacken your gait in order to detect error of method or details overlooked. But don't stop dead. Keep working toward ultimate objectives.

SCORPIO (Oct. 24 to Nov. 22): Don't head into complications. Steer a clear course and focus ambitions on an attainable plateau. Don't strive for the unreasonable.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 23 to Dec. 21): Business matters, difficult tasks, long-range planning favored now. But don't rush into things. Have patience, be vigilant and precise.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22 to Jan. 20): Competition is still on the move. Get with it and gear yourself to the demands which are appropriate.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 21 to Feb. 19): Gains from past good efforts indicated, but don't rest on your laurels. There are further goals to reach, so keep on giving your best.

PISCES (Feb. 20 to Mar. 20): Generous influences on the whole. Both artistry and imagination stimulated. Use both well and results will please.

YOU BORN TODAY are endowed with a fine mind, unusual versatility and lofty ambitions. Your personality is an outgoing one and you make friends easily; can keep them, too, if you will curb tendencies toward arrogance and a biting sarcasm which alienates. That keen wit which sometimes seeks its outlet in sarcasm, however, can be used constructively in the writing, entertainment or cartooning fields; also makes you a delightful speaker and lecturer. Other fields in which you could succeed: business, the law, statesmanship and the military. Birthdate of: Martin Luther King, civil rights leader.

NEW YORK (AP) — A few years ago, when Kelly Lange was doing the afternoon free-way watch by air for a Los Angeles radio station, another aircraft narrowly missed the craft in which she was a passenger-observer.

As it was her third near-miss since 1967, she grounded herself, taking the advice of her instinct for survival.

Now she's just begun a new daytime show called "Take My Advice," but it's not about how to avoid oncoming planes. Nope. It concerns personal problems sent in by viewers and answered by celebrity couples.

Kelly, whose name isn't exactly a household word yet, is a cheery, easy-going lady in her mid-thirties who is fairly well-known to Los Angeles residents because of her work on NBC's station there, KNBC-TV.

Although it doesn't seem to faze her, she has a workload that would buckle the knees of less hardy mortals. Like me, for instance.

In addition to "Take My Advice," a five-show-a-week series she does from NBC's emporium in beautiful downtown Burbank, she also does a "people" profile on KNBC's 5 p.m. news each weekday, the weather for the station's 6 p.m. news and another "people" and weather stint at 11 p.m.

On Sundays, a day of rest for most, she's outdoors in Los Angeles, cohosting a live 90-minute public affairs show on KNBC, although of late she's gotten a Sunday off now and then because of her new show.

Born in New York and reared in Andover, Mass., she may be the only TV show host who can pose questions in Latin. She graduated from college with a degree entitling her to teach that in secondary school.

But she said she didn't want to teach when she moved to Los Angeles from Massachusetts. She didn't exactly know what she wanted to do until she saw a line of women at a shopping mall standing near a trailer owned by radio station KABC.

"I thought they were giving something away, so I just got in line," she said, explaining that the station, as a promotion stunt, was there looking for a "Ladybird" — an airborne traffic-watcher.

She read some copy, was hired and on Valentine's Day 1967 soared skyward in a helicopter to note for KABC's listeners the whereabouts of traffic jams and how best to avoid them.

In 1969, she became a freelance reporter for KABC-TV, "meaning I did a feature story every day and they used it when something else wasn't exploding. They paid me only when they used it."

"I also had the radio job in the morning, which is how I paid my rent. It was a hard gig, but it taught me everything, how to write for broadcast, how to edit, how to work with film."

Kelly, who joined KNBC in November 1971, doing weather forecasts Saturday nights while continuing to work weekdays on radio for rival KABC, began her daily "Take My Advice" series on Jan. 5.

The program, taped before a studio audience, had as its first guests Carol Burnett and husband Joe Hamilton, producer of her CBS show.

Moon Risers

NEW YORK (AP) — Americans will have more ups and downs than ever before during 1976, traveling some 15 billion miles by elevator, predicts Otis traffic engineering authority George Strakosch.

Every time one of the country's 170 million elevator users takes a trip, it may be for only one floor or as many as 100. But all their rides all year long will stretch out to 60,000 times the distance from earth to moon, the elevator expert estimates.

Mercury moves with Great speed in its journey around the sun, averaging about 30 miles per second.

Scioto Society Holds Meeting

The Scioto Society Inc., held its first regular quarterly meeting of 1976, Tuesday in Chillicothe, with Herb Friedman, chairman, presiding over the business.

Members and guests then previewed the Ohio Bicentennial Movie "A Change of Worlds" funded by the Huntington National Banks of Ohio. Recently premiering in Columbus, the 28-minute movie is narrated from the Ohio Historical Village in Columbus and utilizes characters from "Tecumseh!" to tell the history of Ohio.

Friedman introduced newly appointed board member Mrs. Nelson (Carol) Stevens of Pike County.

He then called for committee reports with past chairman Bob Evans reporting on the five years of the Society. Evans reported that in three years, 141,190 people have seen the drama "Tecumseh!", and although it is a non-profit organization, the drama has become a $250,000 a year business.

The Society has helped in the cultural and historical development in Ross, Pickaway and Pike Counties, through concerts, musical plays, arts and crafts and lectures, and through the historical value of the play and its location.

Rusty Mundell, president of Scioto Society reported that the drama is now affiliated with the Discover America Tourist Organization and that newly printed brochures have been distributed to rest stops along Ohio Interstate 70, 71 and 75.

The Board of Trustees Committees for 1976 were released.

They are as follows:

Finance — Robert C. Evans, chairman; Robert Badgley, James P. Coates, Mrs. Roger May, Alvin Perdition, Mrs. Robert Shaevitz, Mrs. Carol Stevens, Dr. Roscoe Swartz, Joseph Weisenberger, Mrs. David Yates and Mrs. John Moore, ex officio.

Membership — Maurice Smith, chairman; Gary Cooper, Mrs. Donald Miller Sr.

Grounds — Stuart Withers, chairman; Herbert Friedman, Albert Heierman Jr., Bernard Henstock, H. Newell Stevenson, William Stout, Hoyt Young and Michael Schirtzinger, ex officio.

Storm Damage . . .

The storm was enough to convince Middletown Journal Sports Editor Jerry Nardiello that lightning sometimes strikes more than once in the same place. Lightning smashed into a tree in Nardiello's backyard near Lebanon Tuesday.

"That was the same tree hit by lightning last July 4," Nardiello lamented. "I guess that old tree has about had it."

Snow began falling in the Cleveland area Tuesday night, but accumulations failed to reach the four inches predicted earlier.

Colder temperatures were forecast for today with continued winds and snow flurries over the state.

Heavy, wet snow — as much as 5.5 inches — swooped down on the northern two-thirds of Illinois Tuesday. The deaths of a motorist and a snow shoveler in the Peoria area may have been weather related, authorities said. Schools were closed and traffic — by car and airplane — was severely disrupted.

The snowstorm moved into southern Michigan Tuesday night, snarling traffic there and forcing the cancellation of many activities. After a slippery rush hour, about 50 cars littered the shoulder of the northbound Lodge Freeway, which connects Detroit with its northwestern suburbs.

Travelers advisories were still in effect this morning for southeastern Michigan, northern Ohio, much of Pennsylvania, and most of New York and Vermont. A mixture of snow, freezing rain and rain changing to snow will make travel hazardous over this area with three inches of snow expected.

Thursday night, heavy rains caused widespread flooding throughout western New York. Two feet of water was reported on two highways in the town of Sardinia. Ice and rain-soaked snow caved in the roof of a shop in Jamestown.

A heavy snow warning covered northern portions of New Hampshire and Maine, with a possible six inches expected today.

And a gale warning was in effect for the New England coast this morning as well as Lake Erie and southern portions of Lake Huron.

In Birmingham, Ala., a possible small tornado blasted store windows and felled trees and power lines in a business district Tuesday night as a fastmoving cold front triggered severe weather across North Alabama. There was one minor injury when the tornado winds struck the Five Points South area.

Temperatures overnight ranged from 74 in Miami to six below zero in Huron, S.D.

Two Injury Accidents Investigated

Nancy A. Mumford, 42, Route 1, Williamsport, was given a warning citation for driving left of center when she was involved in a two-car accident, 9:20 a.m. Tuesday.

Northbound on London Road, Ms. Mumford applied her brakes to make a left turn onto Ridgeway Road, when the auto slid left of center causing a southbound auto, driven by Carolyn E. Tweed, 21, Columbus, to swerve off the right berm of the road.

The Mumford auto struck the Tweed auto in the side before coming to rest in a ditch.

Ms. Mumford was transported to Mt. Carmel Hospital for contusion to the forehead. Ms. Tweed was treated at the scene by the Harrisburg Squad for an elbow injury.

Sixty-five-year-old Wesley D. Schroder, Columbus, was cited for passing within 100-feet of an intersection causing a two-car wreck, 4:25 p.m. Tuesday at the intersection of Routes 62 and 762.

Kevin D. Miller, 18, Route 1, Orient, southbound on 62, was attempting to make a left turn onto 762, when Schroder, unable to stop due to faulty brakes began to pass the Miller auto.

Miller continued to make the left turn when his vehicle was struck in the left side.

Authorities referred Miller to a physician for back and neck injuries.

Crime Fight Promoted By Rhodes

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Gov. James A. Rhodes initiated a statewide effort Tuesday called "Operation Crime Alert" to halt the increase of crime rates in Ohio.

"In spite of the criminal justice dollars we have received and the larger resources we have made available from our local and state budgets, crime continues to rise," Rhodes said in a statement at a news conference.

"The Uniform Crime Report, prepared by the FBI, shows that serious crime has increased nationwide at an alarming rate of 13 per cent and Ohio's nine largest cities reflect an even higher increase of 18 per cent," the governor said.

"I am convinced that the fight to reduce crime and delinquency in our state is one in which we all must join," Rhodes said in a statement at a news conference.

The governor directed James A. Duerk, director of the Department of Economic and Community Development, and Bennett J. Cooper, deputy director of the administration of justice division, to begin a fourphase program to prevent crime.

The program will include informing citizens of the importance of citizen involvement in crime prevention, planning and development of action programs, allocation of $1 million to support crime prevention projects and securing another $1 million from federal criminal and justice funds to improve and sustain citizen involvement in programs in Ohio.

from the Adena and Hopewell cultures dotted the state at the turn of the century, archaeologists estimate, but as few as 1,000 remain.

House Minority Whip Alan E. Norris, R-27 Westerville, said the lack of concern was reflected in calls to the historical society by some developers, advising: "Send an archaeologist out tomorrow and he can follow the bulldozer."

"I frankly think the bill is too timid," he said. "(But) I understand the constitutional problems when you deal with private property."

Rep. Chester Cruze, R-22 Cincinnati, who cast the lone dissenting vote, called the legislation "trivia. We've got serious problems that we ought to be doing something about."

Rep. Harry J. Lehman, D-16 Cleveland faced little opposition in winning 69-20 support for his bill to do away with jury service exemptions, which he said "make no rhyme or reason or sense in the 1970s."

If it is enacted, only those over 70 will be excused; doctors, dentists, registered nurses, lawyers, school teachers, nuns, public officers, policemen and municipal firemen will be called.

The House also sent the Senate legislation that would permit counties to build and operate refuse recycling facilities and sell the recycled products.

5 Guns Taken

Earl W. Puckett, Route 1, Orient, reported to Pickaway County Sheriff's Authorities that thieves entered his home, sometime between 9:30 a.m. and 10:30 p.m. Tuesday, and removed five guns.

Entry was gained through an unlocked back door.

The guns were valued at $810.

Ohio EPA Blasts Sulfur Oxide Rules

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — A federal clean air proposal was criticized Tuesday by the Ohio Environmental Protection Agency, spokesmen for an environmental group, the state's electric companies and the Ohio Manufacturers Association during a public hearing.

The hearing was scheduled to wind up today.

Dr. John Burr, chief of environmental assessment for the state agency, said the federal EPA has recommended stiff sulfur oxide emission controls in 56 Ohio counties while only nine counties now exceed proposed limitations. He called the plan an example of "regulatory overkill."

The two-day session is the fourth by the federal agency in Ohio. Earlier hearings were held in Cleveland, Cincinnati and Steubenville.

The federal agency took over forming sulfur oxide pollution standards after the state's proposals were overturned in court.

Burr recommended that the proposals be modified to eliminate the "overkill" and called on the federal agency to then find "a strategy which, first, is based on hard concrete data and demonstrates a problem exists."

Richard Ayres, a Washington attorney speaking for the Natural Resources Defense Council, said the federal plan is lenient. He called it "a major manifestation of the Ford Administration's program to dismantle the environmental laws for the short term benefit of the utilities and other industrial groups."

Toledo attorney Wilson Snyder, represented the electric companies. He said current federal air quality standards for sulfur oxide emissions are more than adequate to prevent health-damaging pollution.

Manufacturers association spokesman James Seymour said the new controls would not only cause fuel problems for factories but dramatically increase electricity rates for all Ohio users.

He said, "if substantial changes are not made in these regulations...Ohio and all its people, its industry, and, hopefully its state government, will find it necessary to fight you because we are struggling for life."

Archibald Cox Heads Committee

BOSTON (AP) — Former Watergate prosecutor Archibald Cox has been named to head a committee to recommend improvements in the Massachusetts court system.

Cox, a Harvard Law School professor, was Watergate prosecutor until 1973 when he was fired by former President Richard Nixon.

When his appointment was announced Tuesday, Cox conceded that court reform "hasn't particularly been my bag in the past."

The Scioto Society Inc., held its first regular quarterly meeting of 1976, Tuesday in Chillicothe, with Herb Friedman, chairman, presiding over the business.

Members and guests then previewed the Ohio Bicentennial Movie "A Change of Worlds" funded by the Huntington National Bank of Ohio. Recently premiering in Columbus, the 28-minute movie is narrated from the Ohio Historical Village in Columbus and utilizes characters from "Tecumseh!" to tell the history of Ohio.

Friedman introduced newly appointed board member Mrs. Nelson (Carol) Stevens of Pike County.

He then called for committee reports with past chairman Bob Evans reporting on the five years of the Society. Evans reported that in three years, 141,190 people have seen the drama "Tecumseh!", and although it is a non-profit organization, the drama has become a $250,000 a year business.

The Society has helped in the cultural and historical development in Ross, Pickaway and Pike Counties, through concerts, musical plays, arts and crafts and lectures, and through the historical value of the play and its location.

Rusty Mundell, president of Scioto Society reported that the drama is now affiliated with the Discover America Tourist Organization and that newly printed brochures have been distributed to rest stops along Ohio Interstate 70, 71 and 75.
